Apollo's Explorers Streaking To Earth

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 15's three moon explorers, streaking home for a Saturday splashdown in the Pacific Ocean, donned blindfolds today in another quest for information about puzzling cosmic lights that flashed in their eyes and brain cells.

David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden later today have ringside seats at a phenomenon which can be seen only by space crews: a partial eclipse of the sun by the earth.

Only twice before have spacemen been in position to see the huge ball that is earth slide across the face of the sun. The Apollo 12 and Gemini 12 crews were in the right place at the right time.

As the earth moves in front of the sun, it also will block the rays of the sun from reaching the moon, and the astronauts plan to photograph the moon at the time of total eclipse.

The three astronauts also plan an hour-long news conference late today, answering questions from newsmen relayed by Mission Control.

The astronauts also conducted the cosmic light experiment en route to the moon and Worden did tests while orbiting the moon alone.

They reported numerous flashes, mostly pinpoint specks. Scott and Irwin also reported the lights while sleeping on the moon.

During the hour-long news conference from deep space, the astronauts will give newsmen personal observations about their 12-day flight, which ends Saturday with splashdown at 4:46 p.m. EDT north of Hawaii.

Mission Control will relay questions to the Apollo 15 crew. The session will be televised to the Manned Spacecraft Center, but will not be carried by the television networks.

The conference starts at 3:54 p.m. EDT. Newsmen will question Scott and Irwin about their findings on the moon; about the rocks they think may date back to the solar system and which now rest in Sample Bag No. 196 in one of their rock chests; about the layering they reported in Hadley Rille and on the sides of the Apennine Mountains; about the operation of their moon buggy; and about observations of what they thought were lava flows.

Worden will be asked about the lunar science and mapping experiments conducted from orbit; about the initial failure at undocking the lunar lander from the command ship before the landing; and about his quick 18-minute space walk.

Worden took man's first walk in deep space Thursday, floating effortlessly nearly 200,000 miles from earth as he retrieved two film canisters from a science equipment bay at the rear of the spacecraft.

A television camera relayed his progress as he stepped from the open hatch into the weightless world and made his way on handrails about 15 feet to the bay. He was bundled in a pressure suit and attached to a 25-foot lifeline.

Matching Airport Funds Approval Brings Elation

Mayor Jerry Jones said Friday he was elated about the news Thursday from the Federal Aviation Administration that a grant of $710,590 in federal matching funds had been approved for expansion of the Sedalia Municipal Airport.

"We can now accomplish the program the people voted for in connection with airport expansion," Jones said.

Jones said city officials would attempt to get short-range airline service established at the airport when expansion is completed. Jones said that the federal and local north-south runway which will be built with the bond funds, will probably be able to accommodate larger aircraft, making connecting airline service possible.

The FAA's action follows a five-year campaign by the city to develop a larger airport.

Congressman William Randall's office notified Sedalia Industrial Development Director Bill Hall Thursday afternoon that official written approval of the plans and funds request, submitted last April by the Sedalia Airport Board, was in the mail.

Plans approved by the Federal Aviation Administration authorize construction of a new 5,000-foot-long north-south runway; the re-routing of Boonville Road; a 200 by 400-foot terminal apron and two taxi-way connections with the existing 3,600-foot runway.

In addition, the plans call for installation of medium intensity runway lights and a VASI visual approach light system, relocation of the wind cone and rotating beacon light, and construction of a new terminal building.

Airport board chairman Dr. Holmes Wilbur said the federal funds are not authorized for building construction, however, and the terminal will have to be financed with bond money.

The federal funds will be added to the $790,000 in bond money, approved by Sedalia voters in 1968. The total airport expansion package will cost $1,421,180 according to earlier estimates, Dr. Wilbur said.

The board has received $19,000 in state support for the expansion project and will get another $6,000. A recently passed state aid to airports bill makes an additional $25,000 available also.

Dr. Wilbur acknowledged that the board has requested its consulting engineers, Wright and Associates of Springfield, Mo., draw up final specifications for the expansion so the board can advertise for bids.

Dr. Wilbur estimated that excavation work could begin this fall and actual construction might start in March, 1972.

When finished the expanded airport would be the largest in Central Missouri, excluding the Columbia Regional Airport, Dr. Wilbur said. The new runway would be equipped with instrument approach procedure aids and could handle any aircraft up to and including executive jets.

The FAA approval climaxed an airport expansion drive that began in 1966, when Mayor Ralph Walker appointed a six-member airport board to plan enlargement of present facilities.

Then followed a long series of delays and defeats for the expansion program, highlighted by a 1970 Civil Aeronautics Board decision to cancel Sedalia's air carrier certificate. Ozark Airlines also announced it was not interested in extending passenger service to Sedalia in 1970.

The position taken by the board in the 1968 bond election was that an expanded airport would feature regular air service. After 1970 the board was forced to push for an airport which would serve private and business communities, rather than the public.

The board also ran into difficulty over land acquisition when it was learned the Missouri Highway Department sought the same lands for the proposed rerouting of Highway 50. Residents along Boonville Road protested the plan to close a portion of that street.

Under the approved plan Boonville Road would be rerouted north to Griessen Road, around the airport lands, then south to the existing roadway.

U.S. Work Force Leap Offsets Gains in Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of Americans at work climbed sharply to 80.6 million—more than usual for July—but the nation's jobless rate also went up because hundreds of thousands of school youths flooded into the labor market, the government said today.

The report, by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the unemployment rate rose from 5.6 per cent to 5.8 per cent of the work force.

Total employment rose by 1.2 million and total unemployment dipped 160,000 to 5,330,000. But on a seasonally adjusted basis and allowing for a 700,000 rise in the labor force, the bureau figured it as a 500,000 increase in jobs and 200,000 rise in unemployment.

The report appeared to put a clearer focus on the nation's employment picture since the bureau's June report, when an unusually early survey week fell with many youths still in school.

"Employment rose in July, but not enough to offset the increase in the labor force, and the unemployment rate edged up," the report said.

It added that the jobless rise was among part-time workers and that the unemployment rate for full-time workers held steady at the 5.3 per cent.

Figured on a seasonally adjusted basis, the bureau said, total unemployment was up 200,000 for the month, but down 330,000 from May.

"The July rise took place primarily among job seekers who had re-entered the labor force," the report said.

Average hourly earnings for some 45 million rank-and-file workers remained unchanged at $3.42 for the third straight month, but average weekly earnings fell 35 cents to $127.22—primarily because of a drop in the length of the work week which the bureau attributed to the nationwide telephone strike of some 500,000 workers.

The average weekly pay-check was up $5.77 or 4.8 per cent from a year earlier, but a 4.5 per cent rise in living costs over the year wiped out the gain.

Even before the latest figures were reported, a private economist predicted that the jobless rate probably would show a rise.

The prediction came Thursday from Woodrow L. Ginsburg, research director for the Center for Community Change, a social and economic action group.

Ginsburg, in testimony before the Senate House Economic Committee, said no matter what the government's jobless percentage rate shows, analysis shows the private economy is not providing enough jobs.

"There are fewer persons employed fulltime today than there were two years ago," Ginsburg said. He said 600,000 new jobs were created in that period but none of them was in private business or industry.

"State and local governments alone account for more than a 700,000 gain in public employment in the period," he said.

In the over-all economy, Ginsburg added, there was a two-year gain of 523,000 in total employment to 78,956,000, but a decline of 508,000 fulltime workers and a rise of 377,000 Americans working part time because they can't find fulltime jobs.

He said his analysis covered through June.

The last report on unemployment issued last month, showed the sharpest drop in 10 years in the seasonally adjusted national jobless rate, from 6.2 to 5.6 per cent, but the biggest rise in 10 years in actual number of unemployed—up 1.1 million to a total of 5.5 million.

Bureau of Labor Statistics experts who compile the figures said the seeming contradiction was largely a statistical quirk in that the jobless survey fell early in a week when many students were still in school.

Large Gathering Hears Speech By Bill Morris

A crowd of more than 300 persons from nine Central Missouri counties filled the Tiki House Thursday evening to attend a $50-a-plate barbecue for Lt. Gov. William C. Morris.

Henry C. Salveter, local banker and long-time Democratic leader in Sedalia, introduced Morris, and acted as master of ceremonies for the dinner. Salveter called the Morris rally "the largest fund-raising dinner ever held in Pettis County."

The 1972 Democratic gubernatorial candidate told his audience no man had won political office alone. Morris credited "people who believe in a man" for winning elections, then added that if he was to win it would take widespread support.

"I am trying to find what people want" in their state government, Morris told the group. He stressed the hope that voters will take note of his programs.

Briefly touching on taxation, Morris said that he found Missourians concerned about their taxes. "I hope it isn't necessary to raise taxes," Morris said, later adding that he "would not hesitate" to institute a tax hike, if such a move proved to be necessary.

Morris told the gathering he felt state employees should have better wages. Low salaries might be one of the reasons for not having the "most efficient" state government, he said.

With such a large national deficit, Morris emphasized he did not believe money should be taken from the federal government to aid states. "If it (federal government) would like to help us, it should take over welfare," Morris suggested.

Asked what effect the newly-enfranchised 18-year-old voters would have on his campaign, Morris expressed optimism. "I believe I will receive the 18-year-old vote," he said. The Jackson County Democrat said he felt the new voters would be "good, good for all of us."

The Sedalia fund-raising dinner was the first local event for Morris this year. Last spring a similar barbecue was held in Jefferson City, which several Sedalians attended.

Morris was elected to his first state-wide office in 1968 when he ran for lieutenant governor. He is an attorney associated with the firm of Morris, Foust, Moudy and Beckett of Kansas City. Morris is a native of Higginsville.

The 128th Lake Creek Camp meeting currently being held on the camp grounds near the Lake Creek United Methodist Church, four miles south of Smithton, is one of the oldest continuing religious gatherings in Missouri. Here Mr.

and Mrs. Leo Hoehts, Smithton, join the afternoon campers in an adult Bible study led by their pastor, the Rev. Jerry Moon. The largest attendance is expected to be at the 8 p.m. Sunday evangelistic meeting.

Democrat-Capitol Staff Writer

"Get sinners saved the Bible way;
Fill its Altars with those who pray.
Pray down the Pentecostal Fire,
Till all the people shall desire,
MORE CAMP MEETINGS!!!"

SMITHTON — This was the last stanza of a poem entitled, "A Little Rhyme With A Little Reason" which appeared in a 1953 issue of "The Methodist Broadcaster" published in Smithton.

The poem, written by the Rev. J. Coleson Paschal, then pastor of the Lake Creek Methodist Church, was apparently written to rouse interest among area residents in the 108th session of the Lake Creek Camp Meeting, a gathering that has, over the years, become an institution. The camp meeting has been a highlight in the life of Methodists not only in Missouri but also in neighboring states.

The week-long camp meeting which is currently in session is the 128th of the annual gathering. No doubt, the number of persons who attend the meeting has declined over the years. "Farmers and townspeople today don't take off that many days from work," says Leo Hoehts, 65, who has been attending the camp meeting as long as he can remember.

"Back in those days we used to have about 500 people come to the last Sunday meeting," Hoehts said. He said about 175 persons attended the opening Sunday meeting this year, and more than 200 are expected to attend the last meeting at 8 p.m. this Sunday. About 75 persons, including children and teenagers have been attending the weekday meetings compared to the "couple of hundred" that used to attend several years ago, Hoehts said.

But the sermons one hears at the meeting and the hymns that are sung still smack of the old time religion. "Love Divine, All Love's Excelling" and "Trust and Obey" are among the favorite hymns. Or, when the Rev. Jerry Moon, pastor of Lake Creek Methodist Church, expounds the Sermon on the Mount, he minces no words.

"There is no compromise with Christ," he warned his audience. "You either decide to serve Him or not to serve Him. There's no in-between, middle-of-the-road decision in relation to Christ." He went on: "Are we trying to serve two masters? ... Moonlighting, they call it ... Split loyalty ... You can give your total life to Jesus without being a preacher. What He's saying is that you should have one concern in life — to please God."

Mr. Moon conducts the adult study in the afternoon.

The camp meeting begins at 2 p.m. and climaxes with an 8 p.m. message from a guest speaker. This year's preacher is the Rev. Roy Stribling, pastor of Gashland Avenue United Methodist Church, Kansas City, and a former pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Sedalia. The theme of his messages is "How Christ Makes The Difference."

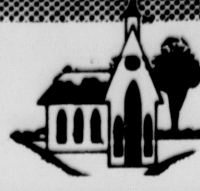

"Fifty or 60 years ago," Hoehts recalled, "we used to have at least five services each day — two in the morning, two in the afternoon and one evening evangelistic service, which was the big deal of the day. In those days when most families used to

Youths Challenged To Church Loyalty

(Democrat-Capital Service)

SWEET SPRINGS — Delivering the 55th homecoming message Sunday at the Blackwater Chapel Methodist Church near here, John Nichols, Sweet Springs, challenged the youth of the congregation to carry on the work handed down to them by their parents and ancestors who founded the church 131 years ago.

Nichols congratulated Miss Lula Wheeler, 73, who has attended every homecoming at the church for the past 55 years. "It is love and loyalty like Miss Wheeler's that has helped this congregation grow through the past 131 years," he said.

He also traced the history of the church dating back to 1840 when a few families met in Freedom School house to worship.

The Rev. Coleman Akin, pastor, thanked the members for their loyalty to the church.

Robert Forsyth, chairman, welcomed the guests and former members. He gave a special recognition to William G. Osborne, 96, the oldest member of the church, and Ernest Winston, 94.

Out of town tuests came from Sedalia, LaMonte, Sweet Springs and Lee's Summit. Among guests who brought brief messages of greetings were Henry Salveter, Ernest L. Jones and James C. Murphy, all from Sedalia.

Says Real Problem Is Spiritual

By TONY LEDWELL
Associated Press Writer

THOMASTON, Ga. (AP) — The Rev. Wedwin L. Cliburn has never carried a sign protesting the war in Vietnam, has never staged a sit-in, and has never marched for peace or against poverty.

Yet in his quiet involvement with the problems of his community, his church and the people he serves, he feels he is as much engaged in serving God and seeking a better society as his colleagues who adopt a more public approach.

"The real struggle," he says, "is to find the solution that benefits everybody. I think to work quietly behind the scenes, to search for problems and come out with positive solutions is, in the long run, much more effective."

The Rev. Mr. Cliburn has sought solutions for 14 years as pastor of the 1000-member First Baptist Church of Thomaston, Ga.

"I've never marched in a demonstration, I've never carried a placard, I've never passed a petition. I don't believe this would be effective in Thomaston," says the minister in this central Georgia community of 14,000 persons.

He hastens to add he feels certain there are places where the demonstrations, the placards and the petitions have been effective. And the 44-year-old slightly gray-haired minister is not critical of religious leaders who use such tactics.

The difference in approach, he asserts, may be based on population makeups.

"There's so much anonymity in the big city, how do you get attention?" he asked. "Around here everybody knows somebody. One guy said he doesn't think there's a black man in our county who doesn't know a white man he can go to about a mutual problem."

School Desegregation Ruling of 1954 Clouded

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventeen years after the Supreme Court proclaimed school desegregation to be the law of the land, there is deep disagreement throughout the country over exactly what the law requires.

Since its original ruling in 1954, the Supreme Court and a number of lower federal courts have decreed methods of achieving desegregation. Each of these decisions, in turn, has become the focal point of a new argument.

Today the central issue is busing, a word that has come to mean transporting black and white children to schools outside their neighborhoods until there are no more schools either all-black or all-white.

That disagreement, if not confusion, exists at the highest levels of government was demonstrated this week when President Nixon publicly repudiated a school desegregation plan drawn up by his own Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The President's position underscores the historical fact that despite what any court decrees, the "law of the land" on desegregation or any other subject is the interpretation adopted by those responsible for enforcing it.

Until Nixon's intervention, the shapers of the basic law laid down by the Supreme Court had been the judges of the federal district and appellate courts, particularly those in the South.

It was these courts that fashioned the doctrine of de jure and de facto segregation and narrowed the application of the law to de jure segregation, which meant the South, where separate school systems for blacks and whites had been established by law.

More than any other aspect this has been the cause of resentment and bitterness in the South, particularly since it has been shown that Southern schools now have a better record of desegregation than those of big Northern cities.

Until just recently, the prevailing view in the courts has been that Northern segregation was de facto, resulting from voluntarily establishing housing patterns, and thus was immune from the law.

That, however, has begun to change, and a scattering of court cases in the North have made busing a national, not a regional issue. Seven Northern cities and the federal government now are involved in suits requiring extensive busing to effect desegregation.

Of these, Pontiac, Mich., likely will be the first to test the issue in the Supreme Court. The city lost in the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and officials are considering an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Desegregation plans involving busing also have been ordered in San Francisco and Pasadena, Calif. Action is pending in cases involving South Holland, Ill., Tulsa, Okla., Waterbury, Conn., and Indianapolis.

It was a lower federal court, in 1955, that laid the basis for one of the first methods widely adopted as a means of complying with the original desegregation system. This court decided that the Supreme Court had not taken away the right of people to choose the school their children attend. The result was the "freedom-of-choice" plans put into effect in most Southern school districts over the next decade.

But in 1968 the Supreme Court ruled that any freedom-of-choice plan that did not result in effective desegregation was unconstitutional. It is believed the church should tell the school board of Thomaston what it ought to do," he says. "We have created such a climate that these bodies can do the things that must be done without all the rancor and ill will."

He admits street demonstrations may have some effectiveness in big cities.

"The demonstrators, the activists are really hard put to find support in the New Testament for this approach," he says. "They fall back on one basic event: the cleansing of the temple by Jesus. Jesus told His disciples they were the salt of the earth."

"Now, salt changes the flavor of something by permeating it. More of an evolutionary or influential thing than revolutionary. This, I believe is the role of the church in society."

Interviewed in his book-lined, green-carpeted office, he said, "I think most ministers do not become involved out here on the streets because they realize the real problem is not always like housing or food. The real problem is a human spiritual problem."

He agrees a religious leader must "minister to the man's physical body ... if you don't nobody is going to listen to a word we say."

Likewise, he said, no one is going to listen to a minister if "all he can do is march in the streets."

His voice fell to a near whisper. "You can maintain good will a lot better by quiet work than by street demonstrations."

"As a preacher, I believe you sort of guide people but you do not dictate to them," he says. "Let them do their own thing and stand back."

"I can't end the war in Vietnam. I can't end racial prejudice. I can, however, help build a person's human spirit. That's why I'm here."

Reports Shuttle Opinion

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Reynolds Shultz said Thursday night after a conference with NASA officials in Washington that he felt the choice of a site for a space shuttle station is between Kansas, California, Florida, and New Mexico.

Shultz led a nine-member delegation to the conference in an effort to persuade the National Aeronautics and Space Administration that Kansas offers the best location for the proposed station. Giant fixed-wing aircraft will fly from it to an orbiting space station and return.

Shultz, Al Kamas, Wichita, chairman of a special committee named by Gov. Robert Docking to study the proposal, and Jack Lacy, state director of economic development, addressed NASA officials yesterday. So did Sen. Robert Dole and Rep. Larry Winn, who is a member of the House Space and Astronautics Committee.

"In my opinion we're definitely in the top 10," Winn said later.

NASA has been studying nearly 100 sites in 20 states. Kansas sites believed to be under consideration are near Garden City, Hays-Russell and Goodland.

Compromise On Draft Shelved

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has shelved until Sept. 13 a compromise draft extension bill President Nixon wanted passed now. And when it comes up, it will face a filibuster.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, tried and failed Thursday to gain unanimous agreement to limit talk on the issue.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, blocked a proposal that the Senate debate the bill only 16 hours before voting.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said there should be a full-scale Senate debate on U.S. policy in Indochina before the draft measure faces action.

The compromise draft bill includes a provision urging Nixon to negotiate with North Vietnam "a final date for the withdrawal from Indochina of all military forces of the United States," subject to the release of American prisoners.

That supplanted an amendment proposed by Mansfield and approved by the Senate calling for a nine-month withdrawal deadline.

Nixon said he considers reasonable the compromise provision drafted by House-Senate negotiators and approved Wednesday by the House. He said it is "consistent with the objectives sought by the administration in Southeast Asia."

"Of course, the amendment is better than nothing," Mansfield said. But he said Nixon's troop withdrawal rate isn't fast enough.

Nixon said Thursday in a letter to Stennis that most members of Congress agree to the necessity for the two-year draft extension, with its provision for a $2.4-billion military pay raise designed to attract volunteers.

"Therefore, I am hopeful that the Senate can quickly adopt the report so that I may sign it before the Congress takes its month long summer recess," he said.

That recess begins today and ends Sept. 8.

Gravel already is at work recruiting a filibuster force in an effort to block the draft extension.

Mansfield said he doubts there are at the moment enough votes to muster the required two-thirds majority to stop a filibuster.

Talks Buoy Sisco

TEL AVIV (AP) — Washington's peace-seeking envoy to the Middle East, Joseph J. Sisco, left for home today after expressing belief that an agreement to reopen the Suez Canal is still possible.

Sisco, the assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern and South Asian affairs, said in a departure statement he had expected no "decisive breakthroughs" from his nine days of conversations and "none was achieved."

But he said despite continuing differences between Israel and Egypt, "we believe that a practical basis for future progress on an interim Suez Canal agreement can be achieved."

"We each know more clearly the limits, the possibilities, the perils and the opportunities which exist in the present situation in the area," he added.

Israeli newspapers said Sisco went home "empty handed," that Premier Golda Meir rejected all his proposals.

Sisco conferred also with Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, Foreign Minister Abba Eban and other officials in an effort to move them closer to an agreement with Egypt to reopen the waterway, blocked since the 1967 war.

The Nixon administration believes such an agreement could reduce tension and pave the way to a peace settlement between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

"There is one simple message that I wish to leave with the Israeli government and the Israeli people," said Sisco. "An interim Suez Canal agreement continues to be the best way to assure that relative quiet will continue and to spare the people of the area the anguish and heartbreak of loss of lives."

Some Israeli observers read special significance into this public urging of Mrs. Meir's government.

Boonville Concern Voiced

(Democrat-Capital Service)

LEXINGTON — State Sen. Ike Skelton, whose senatorial district includes the State Training School for Boys at Boonville, today voiced agreement with Gov. Warren E. Hearnes regarding the incorrigible juvenile problem at Boonville.

Skelton said, "The governor could not be more right when he expressed his concern over a dangerous build-up of hard-core juveniles at the Boonville Training School."

In the last legislative session, Skelton introduced a measure to provide a court procedure whereby incorrigible juveniles could be transferred to the Department of Corrections from the Boonville Training School. This bill was introduced immediately after the Missouri Supreme Court ruled that unmanageable boys could no longer be transferred from the training school to the Department of Corrections by administrative act. The measure would allow a hearing before a juvenile judge to determine whether such transfer should be made.

The Senate Correctional Institutions Committee gave the bill a favorable recommendation, but the Senate did not have a chance to debate and act on the measure due to lack of time. Skelton also attempted to have funds appropriated for a proposed maximum security institution for hard-core juvenile offenders.

Skelton said that he plans to reintroduce these two measures at the beginning of the next legislative session. He added, "The people in the Boonville area should not be the only ones concerned about this problem, as it affects nearly every community in Missouri."

Vandalism Is Bother To Company

The Missouri Valley Sales Co., Engineer and Harvey, has had a very trying week, experiencing thefts and vandalism on three separate occasions.

On Tuesday the manager of the firm reported four rotary cutter drive shafts, worth $128, had somehow been taken by thieves the previous week.

The next day, John Turner, the manager, reported six windows at the business had been broken by vandals overnight, using rocks and bolts. Bags of bolts, used in the assembly of equipment at the firm were also strewn about the area.

Finally, on Friday morning, Leroy Weller, 1310 South Missouri, a salesman at the company reported to police that 16 windows had been damaged by rock-throwing vandals. The damage in the last incident amounted to $50.

Turner was contacted by The Democrat-Capital about the incidents. He said the company was taking steps to end the vandalism. "They hit most of the windows on one side of the building and only two are undamaged. We plan to board up most of the windows to prevent this from happening again," he said.

Concerning the thefts, Turner said that more equipment is being stored inside the building instead of leaving it outside. "Many times we have bags of bolts attached to equipment and they are ripped off, opened and the bolts thrown on the ground," he said. Vandalism at the company, such as broken windows, has been more of a problem than the thefts, Turner said.

Turner added that the losses were covered by insurance.

Greene County Man Is Entering Race

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Former Greene County Recorder of Deeds, Leroy Schantz, 51, in a telephone interview from Washington, said he has decided to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Schantz, chief of the Human Resources Development Division of the Manpower Administration in the Labor Department, confirmed that he would formally enter the race about Jan. 1.

However, he said he is in the process of preparing an extensive campaign program now, one that he claimed would be responsive to big city needs.

The labor official said he and his wife would move back to the Springfield area in the fall.

"I would consider myself a liberal candidate and feel quite comfortable in that category," Schantz stated.

Viet Cong Mines Rip Vehicles

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong mines ripped through a U.S. armored vehicle and a South Vietnamese bus in separate attacks south of Da Nang on Thursday, killing four American troops and 20 Vietnamese civilians.

Gunfire killed another American in that attack, and two American soldiers and 16 South Vietnamese civilians were reported wounded.

The attacks occurred less than 10 miles apart.

A six-week lull in major battlefield action was interrupted by a 200-round mortar barrage against South Vietnamese positions along the demilitarized zone near Fire Base Fuller. It was the heaviest barrage in more than a month, and the South Vietnamese Command said it wounded some soldiers but caused no deaths.

The U.S. Command reported the loss of two more American aircraft, an OH6 light observation helicopter shot down in the Mekong Delta Thursday, and a propeller-driven A1 Skyraider was shot last Monday while supporting Laotian forces in the Plain of Jars. The pilot of the Skyraider was killed, and two helicopter crewmen were wounded. The losses raised the total number of U.S. aircraft reported lost in the war to 7,895.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, the spokesman for the South Vietnamese Command, said the South Vietnamese bus was traveling on a dirt road from one district town to another when it ran over a buried pressure mine 19 miles southwest of Da Nang.

Seven miles to the south, a dud 250-pound U.S. bomb fashioned into a mine was exploded by the Viet Cong in front of an American armored patrol from the 196th Brigade.

The American Division, which operates south of Da Nang, said that mines and booby traps have accounted for at least 50 per cent of the division's casualties during the past six months.

The action was one of three reported by the U.S. Command in which American patrols appeared to be on offensive operations.

Patrols from the 1st Air Cavalry Division killed five enemy troops in a brief clash 48 miles northeast of Saigon and captured nearly 10 tons of food in a search 17 miles farther, the Command said. There were no American casualties.

The U.S. Command was asked to reconcile the patrol actions with President Nixon's news conference statement two days ago that American forces in Vietnam are now in defensive positions.

"The best possible defense is extensive reconnaissance patrolling," said a spokesman, Maj. Richard Gardner.

"We're conducting dynamic defense, attempting to interdict Viet Cong and North Vietnamese supply and infiltration routes that lead into the lowlands," said Capt. Frank N. Griscom, a spokesman for the American Division. "Our installations and the population are in the lowlands. We are attempting to deny the enemy entry and resupply to these areas. It follows the guidelines."

Propose Cable TV Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has proposed rules for the future of cable television, an infant industry promising a new revolution in America's living rooms.

Under the proposed rules, cable systems would have to offer subscribers a wide range of over-the-air television signals, free closed-circuit channels for use by government, educators and individual citizens, and two-way potential that could connect home screens with computers or future shop-from-home department stores.

The effect of the rules proposed Thursday would be to promote cable systems to fill unused channels with a vastly wider and more varied fare than is now available most places.

The rules are expected to go into effect March 1 unless the FCC changes its mind by the end of the year, when a final decision is scheduled.

Because the proposals are sure to inspire energetic lobbying by broadcasters who see cable systems as a threat to the commission took the unusual step of sending Congress a lengthy explanation of the proposals.

Cable television, also known as CATV for "community antenna television," brings television signals into the home via coaxial cable from a central antenna. Closed-circuit services, such as weather or news reports, also are sometimes provided. Fees generally run $5 to $7 a month.

Of the nation's 60 million sets, only 5.9 million are connected to CATV systems, mostly in rural areas where reception would otherwise be poor.

Under the FCC proposals all cable systems would have to carry the signals of all stations within 35 miles.

In the 50 largest television markets they would have to carry a minimum of three full network stations and three independent stations, plus two distant stations.

The policy would require cable systems in the 100 largest markets carrying distant signals to give first priority to any independent UHF station. If no such UHF station were available, they could carry any very high frequency station within the mileage limit. Any number of educational stations would be permitted provided local educational-television interests do not object.

Systems in markets smaller than the top 100 would carry three network and one independent stations.

Ultra-high-frequency stations would be given preference in choosing what distant signals are to be imported into top-100 markets. Any number of educational stations would be permitted provided local educational-television interests do not object.

All cable systems would have to provide one closed-circuit channel for each channel carrying over-the-air signals. Systems in the top 100 markets would have to provide a minimum of 20 channels.

The proposals were adopted by a 6-1 vote with Commissioner Robert Wells dissenting.

Suspend Increases Thursday

(Democrat-Capital Service)

JEFFERSON CITY — Increases in gross annual revenues of $2,715,000 for electric service and $380,000 for gas service requested by Missouri Public Service Co. of Kansas City were suspended Thursday by the Missouri Public Service Commission.

The proposed rates were suspended for 120 days beyond Aug. 12, the effective date requested by the company, to allow time for investigation and hearing by the commission.

The company also has asked for permission to implement temporary rates in the same amount to be effective while the proposed permanent rates are under suspension.

The company wishes to put the temporary rates into effect on Sept. 17, with the condition that any difference between the temporary rates and the rates finally set by the commission would be refunded with interest to its customers.

The commission will hear the company's request for temporary rates on Sept. 7. The hearing in the commission offices in Jefferson City will begin at 10 a.m.

The company also on that date will file its testimony and exhibits in support of the permanent rate increases. The testimony and exhibits of any intervenors and the PSC staff will be taken at a later date.

Any person who wishes to intervene and participate in either the hearing on temporary rates or in the case for permanent rate increases must file an application with the commission prior to Aug. 29, it was announced.

Those who wish to testify, but do not wish to intervene, should communicate with Jeremiah D. Finnegan, general counsel to the commission, it was stated.

Missouri Public Service Co. serves customers in 29 Western Missouri counties, including Sedalia. The company has told the commission the electric rate increase, exclusive of wholesale sales, would average 8.83 per cent, and the gas rate increase would average 5.3 per cent.

The proposed electric rates also include a fuel adjustment clause, which would permit the company to pass on to its customers variations in its fuel costs.

Open House Is Set For Fire Station

An open house of the new Westside Fire Station will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday, Aug. 14, according to Mayor Jerry Jones. A short dedication ceremony is scheduled for 10 a.m.

Jones urged the public to attend the open house of the new facility, built with sales tax revenue.

Attend Convention

About 16 Pettis Countians are attending the 53rd Reunion of the 6th Infantry Division, which began Thursday and ends Saturday at the Prom Sheraton Inn, Sixth and Main, Kansas City.

Camp

live at the camp site, the day began with a 6 a.m. private devotional time called "The Morning Watch," he said.

Some of the old, timbered houses that stood on the original camp site, two miles north of the present location, have been moved into the wooded area adjacent to the church. Children love to camp in the rustic cabins which are put together with hand-hewn wooden square nails.

The ancient cabins are more accustomed to having horseshoes and buggies parked around them instead of the present-day sleek automobiles.

Methodism in this part of the country began in 1839 when missionary by the name Walkenhorst started religious services in the Lake Creek area. According to the church records, Methodists and Lutherans in the area were shipped together for some time.

The old camp meeting site is a cemetery now. According to Hoehns, "some big shots buried there ... like Jack Timken, the grand-daddy of roller-bearing empire."

Among others who helped establish the Lake Creek Methodist Church were Herman, John and Cord Kalk and Conrad and Gerhard Ringen.

In 1843 the Rev. Sebastian Barth came to the area to organize the "Osage Mission" which was later named "Versailles Mission." Barth ministered in various towns his 300-mile circuit by trekking on horse back from Lexington to the mouth of the Osage River and to the south to include seven counties.

The church record notes: 1844 the first Pentecost celebrated in a vacant house, which stood in timbered spot supposed where the cemetery is present. It was a time rejoicing for in that meeting souls were converted."

Until 1910 all services were conducted in German.

The camp meeting about the time the congregation was founded Lake Creek in 1843.

Hoehns recalled some of "plenty of good things" that befell the Lake Creek community since the first meeting. "For one thing, it turned out five Methodist preachers. Good preachers picked their wives at the camp meeting."

He added,

Many Tests Available
On Blood Sugar Level

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I had a blood sugar of 125. The doctor told me that's normal. I am 65 years old. The girl at the desk told me 110 was normal. How far over 125 at the age of 65 should you have to watch for sugar? My cholesterol at one time was 320, the last count 300, taking no medicine. This same doctor said not to worry about a 300 cholesterol. I thought 300 high. Can you tell me what a normal one would be? I thought I read somewhere that 105 was normal, if so I think I have something to worry about.

Dear Reader — First regarding blood sugar, there are different methods of doing the test and this can account for a variation of 20 points. Some tests measure only glucose sugar and other tests measure additional substances with a similar chemical action.

Blood sugar levels vary in normal people. By most methods a fasting value of 125 is acceptable. The value will be elevated by anxiousness or stress. If only one test is done the best test is two hours after eating a high carbohydrate meal. This will show how the body handles sugar. Diabetics often have a normal fasting blood sugar.

A common problem in blood sugar measurements is the unprepared patient. I don't know how many people I have seen misdiagnosed as diabetics for this reason. If you don't eat carbohydrates the body needs less insulin to metabolize carbohydrates and simply produces less. Then if you are loaded with sugar for a sugar test there won't be enough insulin and the test will give a diabetic response. After eating a high carbohydrate diet for about three days, bread, potatoes and perhaps a couple of candy bars a day, the insulin production will become normal and the test will be normal. So it is not always wise to go on a diet to get your weight down just before you go to see the doctor.

One cholesterol test doesn't tell the story, BUT the higher the level the more likely one will develop fatty deposits in the arteries. Most heart specialists would prefer to see the value below 240 and would be happier if it were nearer 200 or below. Often the best treatment is a proper diet, that means restricting calories sufficiently to eliminate obesity. Exercise and limiting fat and cholesterol intake is also helpful.

The higher the cholesterol level the more likely it will be significantly lowered with a proper program. I am not an enthusiast for medicine to lower blood cholesterol. Most of these medicines cause undesirable side effects — they are, after all, poisons of a sort. I see no reason to give medicine when proper living habits will correct the situation. So you might see what you can do for yourself.

The Noon Optimist Club had J. W. Watts as their guest speaker Wednesday at Bothwell Hotel. He is a member of the Ozarks Chapter of the Piano Technicians Guide and discussed his career as a piano tuner and displayed many of the tools of his trade and explained their uses.

Also discussed at the meeting was the upcoming Optimist Kids Day at the Missouri State Fair. There will be approximately 1,500 to 2,000 boys attending this year and their expenses will be paid by various Optimist Clubs across Missouri.

The Sedalia Optimist Club will sponsor 25 boys and each of them will receive an allotted sum of money and free carnival rides for an hour.

The invocation was by Dr. K. L. Holdren.

A Calculated Risk In Safeguard Freeze

Prospects of constructing the Safeguard ABM complex in this area have been further dimmed by the Senate Armed Services Committee, which voted Wednesday to provide funds for "advance" preparation only in the Sedalia area.

This means that only preliminary work on the $154 million project would be accomplished, should the Congress adopt the committee proposal.

There is little reason to hope that the full Senate will be any kinder to the Safeguard authorization than it was when the original Safeguard bill cleared the Senate by only one vote.

Even Armed Services Chairman John Stennis has predicted that the military authorization bill "will have a very rugged trip on the floor."

The Senate's chief Safeguard foe is none other than Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, who tried, and failed, to have the entire Whiteman project scuttled.

Symington has made no secret of his opposition to Safeguard, which he has called "a modern technological Maginot Line" and "the greatest single boondoggle that I have seen since I have been in government."

In fairness, part of Symington's and the Senate's coolness toward Safeguard is due to the rapidly escalating price tag of the system. Cost estimates on the 12-site system have risen from $9.1 billion two years ago to $13.7 billion today, and keep going up.

This cost squeeze, plus the possibility of an ABM agreement being reached with the Russians in the SALT talks, have conspired to keep Safeguard on ice in this area.

If no arms agreement is reached in Helsinki, and the Russians continue to pour record sums into their defense budget, then the United States can accommodate an ABM freeze for just so long.

Beyond that, we would run the risk of further widening the already alarming strategic arms gap separating Russia and this country.

New China Policy Shakes Up Asians

By CARL T. ROWAN

WASHINGTON — When a major Asian ally fires its foreign minister in an uproar over the China-policy shifts by the Nixon administration, it is nothing to be dismissed lightly.

Rowan

Australian Prime Minister William McMahon has sacked his foreign minister, Leslie Bury, as part of his government's effort to adapt to the dramatic U.S. announcements without walking into political calamity at home.

We get some sense of the far-reaching import, the possible benefits and pitfalls, of Mr. Nixon's upcoming journey to the China mainland when we look at Bury's "farewell" comments:

"I hate to see the far-reaching interests of Australia and our friends and allies to the near north dragged by the chariot wheels of American political processes," he said. "It is deplorable indeed when foreign policy, which runs to the very root of national security, is allowed to become the plaything of party politics."

In that band of Asian countries that has supported U.S. policies in Indochina and the Far East for two decades, Bury is not by any means the only official who believes that Mr. Nixon's trip is being undertaken with the 1972 political impact uppermost in mind. Some have gone so far as to argue that he is foisting a tragic situation upon countries like Taiwan, South Korea, Thailand and even the Philippines just to avoid the ignominy of being defeated for reelection.

I have written earlier of the considerable political benefits likely to accrue from Mr. Nixon's trip to China. But only the most blindly partisan politician could construe a foreign policy shift of such magnitude to be a mere campaign gimmick.

In announcing that the U.S. will support Communist China's admission to the United Nations, Secretary of State William F. Rogers said the U.S. is "seeking to accommodate our role to the realities of the world today."

The policy is right, and it is long overdue, and that is ample justification for it. The weighing of political benefits and impugning of motives is just fun and games signifying nothing.

What we might do more profitably is to look down the road and try to ponder what this means in terms of the future effectiveness of the UN, which has run on hard times lately.

Is Rogers' statement inviting Red China in while insisting that Taiwan remain the prelude to a U.S. policy of "universal" membership?

The UN might as well not have existed these last several years, considering the nothing role it has played in the Indochina war. Any significant UN contribution was virtually ruled out by the fact that two major parties to that war, North and South Vietnam, are not members of the United Nations.

A string of Berlin crises have come and gone without major UN contributions to easing tensions, partly because West Germany and East Germany are not members.

The UN had a special role in the Korean war, and the hangover is such that for the last several years UN consideration of the Korean question has been marked primarily by efforts to keep North Koreans from getting a propaganda forum in the General Assembly.

No one can say with certainty that any of these disputes would be settled quicker or easier if all these divided countries were in the UN, but there can be no denying, for example, that the existence of two Germanys is one of the "realities of the world today." The question is whether the U.S. and the rest of the world are ready to accommodate themselves to that reality.

Certainly Mr. Nixon's stunning announcement of his invitation to China embarrassed many of our friends — McMahon in Australia, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato in Japan, President Ferdinand Marcos in the Philippines. But there is no reason to believe that the U.S. policy shift will constitute a long-range threat to the security of Australia or any other country.

Peking is going to play hard to get, negotiating ruthlessly for everything the Mao government can get. But unless the Nixon trip develops into a diplomatic disaster, we are moving into an era when Asians will do more talking and less fighting. And a lot of new voices will be heard around the UN.

One would be quite naive to suggest that this will add up to what Rogers called "a framework for a stable peace." But it will be a darned sight better than what we have had for a quarter century.

LAS VEGAS — The private papers of phantom billionaire Howard Hughes reveal how he attempted to manipulate both presidential candidates in 1968.

Although the papers are still under court seal in Nevada, we have had access to them. Here are the highlights:

— Hughes directed his former factotum, Robert Maheu, to help Richard Nixon win the presidency "under our sponsorship and supervision." Maheu allegedly siphoned off $100,000 from the Silver Slipper, a Hughes gambling emporium, for Nixon's campaign. The money was delivered by Richard Danner, a Hughes exec, to Bebe Rebozo, a Nixon confidante.

— At the same time, Hughes suggested Maheu should "get word to (Hubert Humphrey) on a basis of secrecy that is REALLY, REALLY RELIABLE that we will give him immediately FULL, UNLIMITED support for his campaign to enter the White House." An immediate $50,000 contribution was supposed to have been made. Although Humphrey heard Maheu had contributed to his campaign, there's no record the $50,000 was ever received.

Hughes' lieutenants also offered to subsidize Larry O'Brien so he could serve without pay as Democratic national chairman during the 1968 campaign. Humphrey acknowledges the offer was made, and O'Brien confirms he was sounded out by Maheu in 1968. But both insist O'Brien never drew a dime from the Hughes interests during the campaign. Several months later, however, he was retained by Hughes for a "substantial sum." Humphrey's son, Robert, was also employed by a Hughes company as a sales representative.

Hughes' startling strategy was to help elect Nixon as President in 1968, then to groom Nevada's articulate and attractive Gov. Paul Laxalt for the White House. The fabulously rich recluse saw a Kennedy-like quality in Laxalt, who gave up the governorship this year.

On March 14, 1968, Hughes instructed Maheu: "I want you to go to see Nixon as my special confidential emissary. I feel there is a really valid possibility of a Republican victory this year."

"If that could be realized under our sponsorship and supervision every inch of the way, then we would be ready to follow with Laxalt as our next candidate."

Hughes used his gambling profits from the Silver Slipper to make political contributions. He owned the casino as a personal holding, therefore the money didn't pass through his corporate books.

We have evidence that Silver Slipper money was slipped to a number of Nevada and national politicians. In 1968, Maheu turned over $100,000 from the Silver Slipper to Danner, who delivered it to Nixon's close crony, Bebe Rebozo.

The participants won't talk about the transaction. Responded Maheu tersely: "I have made it a matter of policy never to discuss political contributions on behalf of any client unless I have specific authorization in writing. In this case, I doubt whether the authorization would be forthcoming."

Danner, who now runs the Sands hotel-casino for Hughes, refused to comment. And Rebozo wouldn't take our calls.

While Hughes was supporting Richard Nixon, he also courted Hubert Humphrey. The secretive billionaire hoped to use Humphrey, then vice president, to stop nuclear testing in Nevada.

"Bob," Hughes instructed Maheu, "there is one man who can accomplish our objective through (Lyndon) Johnson — and that man is H.H.H.

"Why don't we get word to him on a basis of secrecy that is REALLY, REALLY RELIABLE that we will give him immediately FULL, UNLIMITED support for his campaign to enter the White House if he will just take this one on for us?"

The billionaire's secret, hand-scrrawled instructions indicate Humphrey's help had been secured. Hughes sought "an order from LBJ inspired by Humphries" to halt all Nevada testing or, at least, at 90-day delay to give him more time to prepare a case against the tests.

"I concur completely," Hughes wrote Maheu on April 16, 1968, "with telling the V.P. that he is free to tell the people in Washington if they don't grant the 90-day delay, I am going to the public immediately."

He threatened to make public scientific opinions that the tests may have triggered an earthquake.

"Bob," Hughes added, "I leave this whose campaign in your hands. I am sure you should PERSONALLY go to the White House after we have obtained the 90-day delay and endeavor to sell the President on a permanent policy. I am sure H.H.H. would be glad to go with you and to set up the appointment."

Maheu suggested a personal message from Hughes to the President would be more effective. Replied Hughes on April 24: "You know I am perfectly willing to write a short personal message to Johnson, which we could ask Humphries to deliver — hand deliver — to Johnson."

"Or if we feel it would be more prudent, I could ask F to deliver it. In that way, it need not interfere with anything Humphries has going..."

"I feel we must start a negotiation with the A.E.C. just as if we were negotiating a business deal. I think we can go through Humphries."

Humphrey, whose last name the billionaire could never get straight, acknowledged to us that he had opposed the Nevada tests. But he had taken this position, he said, before the approach from the Hughes people.

Promises Better Poll

This is our first letter to the editor in all of the years we have represented Pettis County in the United States House of Representatives. I hope this may be published in your "Editor's Mail" section.

First, may I say the fact that I am writing this letter should serve to demonstrate that we read all of the editorials in The Sedalia Democrat. Over the years these have always proved helpful on pending issues during legislative debate. Next, let me say that when an elected official or his office is the subject of an editorial, he must try to make an objective or impersonal appraisal to avoid a hasty reaction. In this case, I've done my best to try to put myself in the place of a disinterested reader.

With the foregoing as a preface, this letter is to say that your criticism of our poll questions, both the one on committee assignments and the one on executive reorganization, was well taken. Stated differently, our office is in full agreement with the point of your editorial.

My further response to the criticism of asking "loaded" questions is to confess there has been criticism of these questions in the 1971 opinion poll from scattered areas of our district. We agree the 1971 effort was not our best-worded poll.

The only avoidance or possible explanation is that this year's opinion poll was prepared hurriedly and without a careful personal review or restudy prior to mailing. Nonetheless, the fact remains my office was responsible for sending poorly-worded questions. We accept this criticism because it is justified. We promise to avoid a repetition of this kind of thing in the future.

To be certain next year that the questions are neither leading, loaded, nor partisan, it is my intention to employ a professional pollster as a consultant when we prepare our 1972 questionnaire. Moreover, we intend to ask all segments of the news media in our district, printed and electronic, to suggest which issues or matters of current interest they believe ought to be included in the next poll.

Over the years we have enjoyed wide approval of this sampling of opinion. In this, our 13th year, we have experienced our first criticism. We agree it is justified. We pledge all of our constituents we will work hard for a better questionnaire next year.

Washington, D. C. Rep. Wm. J. Randall

Movies, as the Hollywood saying goes, may be better than ever, but one thing is certain—cartoons are in sad shape.

When is the last time you laughed at a cartoon? Today's version certainly tries hard, what with abstract drawings, splashy color and sophisticated voice animation. Everything but humor.

Along with Red China, economic portents and the Pentagon Papers, I have been doing some serious thinking lately about what makes modern cartoons such losers. I think it has to do with heart.

Take the genius of a Fred Quimby, for instance. His Tom and Jerry stand as a monument to the cartoon-maker's genius. They had wildly imaginative visual humor (there was a memorable classic of Tom and Jerry romping atop a Thanksgiving dinner table), fast pacing and good plots—and they weren't even talkies!

But most of all they had characters—Tom and Jerry. Both had "soul," and you knew where you stood with each and what to expect. By virtue of their continuity, the moviegoer watching a Tom and Jerry cartoon had the feeling that he was among old friends.

Contrast this with today's pallid cartoons. Who knows the characters? Who cares? I tell you it is sad that a whole generation of kids is growing up without the benefit of Tom and Jerry. Or Sylvester the Pussycat for that matter, or the Road Runner and Wiley Coyote, or Bugs Bunny, or Goofy, or Donald Duck.

And who has heard of Tweety Pie lately?

The Democrat-Capital has been invited to send a reporter to "uncover" the Miss Nude America Beauty Pageant to be held Saturday at "Naked City," Rose Lawn, Ind.

In perusing Naked City's colorful brochure, I noted one item that strikes me as utterly discriminatory. A single man must pay $15 at the gate to see the pageant, while unaccompanied women are admitted for a mere $2. Men's Lib, are you going to take this sitting down?

The wildest part of the Miss Nude America contest is the list of judges. In the words of the press release they are: "Bob Guccione (Editor and Publisher of Penthouse Magazine), the comedian George Kirby, Ted Tuschinsky and Mrs. Rene Hardin (Famous Beauty Pageant Judges), the genius R. Buckminster Fuller, beautiful Babette Bardot (Brigitte's cousin and an entertainer in her own right), the black and white comedy team of Tim & Tom, and the world's longest living heart transplant recipient, Louis Russell, Jr."

R. Buckminster Fuller?

Jim Atkinson, manager of Cablevision, says we were unfair in stating in a recent editorial that there have been no improvements in the local operation.

He says an agreement with Channel 6 on power output has cut the interference with Channel 5, Kansas City. And a switching device has been installed in the office and with the answering service, making it possible to correct programming errors as soon as they are noted.

One comforting thought about being an editor: if you make a mistake, you can rest assured prompt help will come from one or more of your readers.

I am indebted to an anonymous reader who caught me with my Caesar down. In a recent editorial I used the expression, "cast the dye" in regard to a decision. Well, maybe old Caesar did cast a little dye every now and then (perhaps helping Calpurnia with the wash), but in this case he meant "die," obviously, now that I think about it.

Sorry about that, Julius.

The Sedalia Public Library is taking steps to give Scott Joplin his own nook. Librarian Don Morton is designating a shelf in the third-floor Local History Room for Joplin material.

It's pretty scant right now, but Larry Melton, a graduate student in history, has offered some of his material, and Morton has ordered a two-volume collection of Joplin's music, to be published soon by the New York Public Library.

A good picture of the Ragtime composer also is needed, as well as any other material local citizens might have.

Melton, incidentally, has suggested to the Chamber of Commerce that Sedalia's on-again, off-again highway welcome signs include the words, "Welcome to Sedalia, the Cradle of Classical Ragtime."

Why not?

Appetite For Meat Matches Production

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An awesome consumer appetite for red meat, seemingly at any price, is keeping pace with record production and causing headaches for the government's retail-price watchers.

The Agriculture Department says food prices are rising a bit faster than earlier forecast but still expects grocery prices for all of 1971 to gain about 3 per cent, well below the 5.1-per-cent jump last year.

However, farmers have been turning out a record supply of beef and pork with little price benefit to consumers. A super-size pig crop last year caused hog prices paid farmers to plummet last fall and winter.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics says pork chops in June averaged $1.06 per pound at retail stores, compared with about $1.01 last January when the pork surplus was hitting the market. Last summer, before the farm price break, they were about $1.17 per pound.

Farmers are cutting back on hog production now and the outlook is for their prices to improve, meaning higher pork prices at stores.

Beef prices also are on the way up despite record-large cattle output. In June, hamburger cost 68.7 cents a pound, up more than two cents from a year earlier, the BLS said. Round steak averaged nearly $1.38 per pound, compared with less than $1.30 a year earlier.

Beef and pork account for most of the meat consumed by Americans. And meat takes around 30 per cent of a family's food budget.

The Agriculture Department said in a food-situation report issued Wednesday that super-market food prices during the first three months of 1971 were up less than 1 per cent. But during April-June they jumped 2.5 per cent above a year earlier.

Looking ahead, the USDA says consumers may spend nearly $120 billion on all food this year, nearly 6 per cent more than in 1970. More people, an increase in per-capita meat consumption and higher prices will account for nearly all the rise.

A major factor in boosting food demand, particularly for meat, is an expected rise this year of around 8 per cent in consumer take-home pay. As paychecks grow larger, family spending for food seems to depend less on prices.

Hazen F. Gale, a food analyst with the Economic Research Service in USDA, said he is optimistic the over-all price rise of food this year would be held to 3.5 per cent including meals eaten away from home.

However, Gale said, consumers probably have seen beef and pork prices the lowest they will be for some time.

Contends Perkins Misused Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans say Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., misused his position as chairman of a House committee by single-handedly issuing a report citing the bureau of Mines for negligence in the Hyden, Ky., coal mine explosion last December.

Minority members of a House Labor subcommittee say Perkins, chairman of the full Education and Labor Committee, violated House rules by releasing the report without consulting other committee members.

A new version of the report, issued this week, includes Republican disagreement with Perkins' conclusions.

Thirty-eight miners died in the explosion Dec. 30, 1970, at a mine owned by the Finley Coal Co.

A document titled "A Report by the General Subcommittee on Labor" was released June 19 and carried Perkins' name on the cover.

Perkins' report concluded: "The committee would be derelict . . . if it did not acknowledge the glaring fact that the Bureau of Mines must bear a heavy burden on responsibility for the Hyden tragedy."

"Many of the miners killed looked hopefully but vainly to the bureau for closure or the imposition of safe working conditions in the mine."

Perkins now acknowledged the report was prepared under his direction as a "committee print" or draft for use by Democrats on the committee, and that no other members of the committee—Republicans or Democrats—were consulted.

The new report was issued after subcommittee member Rep. John N. Ellenborn, R-Ill., found the original version in his mail box.

"It was a purposely misleading fraud," Ellenborn said in a phone interview. "It can't have been a mistake to send it to newspapers since 1,000 copies were printed."

The second report, labeled "The Official Report, Minority and Additional Views," says in the minority section:

"In addition to certain erroneous factual findings in the majority report, which form the basis for its erroneous conclusions, the use of prologue, prelude and epilogue and its use of lurid prose are characteristic of the report and more befitting a dime-novel approach."

The minority section also says the original report incorrectly labeled the Bureau of Mines' own investigation a "sham," and blamed bureau inspectors without good reason for not knowing in advance that a dangerous detonator cord, called primacord, was used in the Finley mine.

Abernathy, Otis Guide Kansas City to Sweep

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ted Abernathy still reaps the benefits of spring training even at his ripe old age of 38.

The Kansas City Royals relief specialist did everything he could last spring to perfect his knuckleball, but he had used it sparingly during the regular season.

Thursday night he gave the Minnesota Twins a good look at the pitch.

Abby's knuckleball was so effective that he pitched three brilliant middle innings of relief and got credit for the Royals' uphill 7-4 triumph over the Twins.

"I threw at least one to every batter," said Abernathy, 3-4, "and all of them were strikes, too."

Abernathy, who allowed only two harmless singles during his three-inning stint, came up with his sparkling performance after some recent failures that had people mumbling that he was washed up.

"I never gave up on myself when I was having trouble of late," Abernathy said. "After 20 years in the game, you don't get down on yourself. You just have to battle your way out of it."

Abernathy found himself in two rather unique situations. He was beckoned from the bullpen to start the fifth inning. He usually gets the call in the late stages of a game. Also, there was nobody on base, a real rarity for him.

"I've always been a short relief man but I have relieved in the middle innings once in a while," he said. "You get more wins being the middle relief man but I get saves coming in late, and a save's the same as a win to me."

Abernathy said he hopes to "be on a pennant winner one time before I get out. I've never been on a pennant winner in the majors. I came close in 1969 with the Cubs but they blew it."

Knoop opened the inning with a triple off Tom Hall, the Twins' starter. Stan Williams, 4-5, took over and hit Patek, who went to second for his 36th steal, and walked Rojas. Otis then got his only hit of the game.

Fuentes Scores for Giants

St. Louis catcher Ted Simmons is bowled over by San Francisco's Tito Fuentes as he scores in the first inning of the Cards-Giants' game, Thursday night in St. Louis. Fuentes scored from third on a sacrifice fly to left field by Ken Henderson. Lou Brock caught the ball, but the relay to the plate was not in time to get Fuentes. Umpire Nick Colosi calls the play. St. Louis defeated the Giants, 3-2.

Manning Second Choice Behind Hargett Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Archie Manning had the starting role many times during his college days but he'll be an understudy when he makes his pro football debut.

Manning, the Saints No. 1 draft selection after compiling a sparkling record at the University of Mississippi, is slated for limited duty behind quarterback Edd Hargett when New Orleans battles the Buffalo Bills in one of tonight's two pro football exhibition contests.

The rookie signal caller rejected an invitation to play in the College All Star Game and has been training with the Saints for only one week.

American Conference rookie of the year Dennis Shaw will call the signals for the Bills, whose running attack will be bolstered by O.J. Simpson.

The other game pits the offense-minded Los Angeles Rams against the Dallas Cowboys. Tommy Prothro, former head coach at UCLA makes his home pro coaching debut and has been stressing offense in practice.

Roman Gabriel will start at quarterback for the Rams while Craig Morton and Roger Staubach will alternate at the helm for the Cowboys.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry commented that his team was in fine trim, with the exception of his injury-riddled receiver corps. Tight end Mike Ditka and rookie John Nelson are the only receivers who haven't missed practice due to injuries.

New additions in the Dallas offensive lineup include flanker Lance Alworth and Calvin Hill. Hill replaces running back Duane Thomas, who has been sent back to the Cowboys after his trade to the New England Patriots was canceled.

Former Cowboy receiver Lance Rentzel will start for the Rams.

Washington Redskins quarterback Sonny Jurgensen jammed his right thumb on a helmet during a scrimmage Thursday, and Coach George Allen wasted little time in dispatching the veteran signal caller to a hospital.

An x-ray proved negative and the injury was described as a "slight bruise."

One of the better known grid-ders to receive the gage as pro teams continued to trim their roster was 1967 Heisman Trophy winner Gary Beban, who announced his retirement from pro football after the Denver Broncos placed him on waivers.

The Atlanta Falcons pared down their list, dropping 12 players including last year's regular place kicker Kenny Vinyard and veteran tight end Ron Jones.

The Philadelphia Eagles dropped three players Thursday—linebacker Roger Smith, tight end Dick Hill and linebacker Bob Parker.

While some of the teams whittled their numbers toward the 60-player limit, the Baltimore Colts did just the opposite and added two men to boost their roster to 60. Center Ken Mendenhall was picked up on waivers from the Houston Oilers and defensive end Tom Lloyd was acquired from the New Orleans Saints.

The Twins had gone ahead in the third on singles by Cesar Tovar and Tony Oliva, a walk to Rod Carew, a sacrifice fly and Jim Holt's second run-scoring single. They hiked their lead to 4-1 in the fourth when Hall singled and scored after singles by Tovar and Oliva.

Kansas City kept clawing at Hall and trailed only 4-3 when the Royals unloaded their big barrage. The Twins got 10 singles in the game and a couple of doubles to outwit the Royals 12-9.

The game's surprise hit came off the bat of Abernathy, a leadoff single in the fifth. It was his first hit of the season.

"How about that?" Abernathy quipped.

Jose Cruz Steers Cards Past Giants

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jose Cruz has decided he'll keep a tee shirt purchased as a minor leaguer handy while the St. Louis Cardinals try to make up ground in the National League East.

The fleet center fielder wore the shirt with the words "Have a Nice Day" across the chest Thursday night and helped the Cardinals check the San Francisco Giants 3-2.

St. Louis' 19th win in its last

27 games kept the Cardinals eight games behind pace setting Pittsburgh in the NL East as San Francisco's edge over Los Angeles in the West slipped to six games.

Juan Marichal was the victim of a Cruz home run and the timely hitting of another fellow Latin American, Matty Alou.

Cruz, recalled by the Cardinals from Tulsa of the American Association a little more than a month ago, made it four home runs in 35 games by slugging a Marichal screw ball over the right-field wall in the opening inning.

Three innings later he unlocked a 1-1 tie by waiting for the only walk issued by Marichal and then inducing Marichal into a wild pick-off attempt that sent him to third base.

Alou singled home the 23-year-old Cruz for a 2-1 Cardinal lead, then drove home the deciding run with a sacrifice fly in the sixth after Cruz' ground ball to the right side advanced Lou Brock to third with an out.

Cruz, three nights earlier suffered a broken nose in an auto accident but showed little effects from the injury, however. He made two sparkling catches among six putouts he registered in support of winner Reggie Cleveland (10-9).

Cleveland, besting Marichal a second time in three games between the two this season, survived the 10 hits he allowed the Giants in eight innings by walking none.

Bobby Bonds and Fuentes singled with two out in the seventh, but the 23-year-old Cardinal right-hander escaped by retiring Ken Henderson on a ground ball.

McCovey and Dick Dietz fled out leading off the Giants' eighth inning before Dave Kingman slammed a pitch into the left-field seats for his fourth homer.

Dr. Pepper will play Marshall Dairy Queen at 8:30 p.m. Sunday; Mike O'Connors drew a bye in the opening round of play in the 22-team, double-elimination tournament.

O'Connors will face the winner of the Dairy Queen-Dr. Pepper game, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The two semifinalists will be eligible to advance to the state playoffs.

Search for New Commissioner

KANSAS CITY (AP) — More names were being tossed around today as the Big Eight Conference started its search for a new commissioner to succeed Wayne Duke, who was named Thursday to a similar post in the Big Ten Conference.

Even before the announcement of Duke's selection, there was speculation that Mickey Holmes, 33, Duke's administrative assistant, would receive consideration. Holmes has been an aide to Duke for more than seven years.

Other names which have been mentioned are those of Brice Durbin, executive secretary of the Kansas State High School Activities Association and supervisor of basketball officials for the Big Eight, and Chuck Neinas, executive assistant to Walter Byers of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Another is that of Bud Wilkinson, a commentator on the College Football Game of the Week on television and a former head coach at the University of Oklahoma.

Duke was Byers' executive assistant when he was selected as Big Eight commissioner in 1963.

Conference officials have not said what procedure will be used to name a new commissioner. A four-man screening committee was named when the conference sought a successor to the late Reeves Peters, the league's first and only other commissioner.

The screening committee made recommendations to the conference faculty representatives, who named Duke. The faculty representatives have the final say as the conference governing body.

That same procedure likely will be followed this time. Most of the faculty representatives are now on vacation, including Charles Oldfather of the University of Kansas, chairman of the group.

Ends Speculation

Wayne Duke, former Commissioner of the Big Eight Conference, ended speculation Thursday in announcing that he had accepted a similar post with the Big Ten Conference. (UPI)

Drivers Will Vie For Pepsi Money at Races

Missouri State Fair Secretary W. C. Askew and Lewis Thompson, coordinator for the racing division of the Pepsi-Cola Co., have announced that stock and sprint car drivers participating at races here during the Fair will be fighting for a share of a $5,000 special point fund. Top drivers will acquire title points toward the purse set up by the Pepsi-Cola Co.

The final International Motor Contest Association spring car race at the Fair, the 18th Annual Missouri Futurity on Aug. 28, will have an added incentive for both drivers and employees of the Sedalia Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co., according to president Julian Bagby.

His sales organization, under manager Bob Seelen, has set up a separate contest to tie in with the State Fair races.

For the top Pepsi-Cola salesman of the month, he will receive free tickets to the Missouri Futurity and will be presented with the checkered flat autographed by the winning driver. The salesman will present the trophy following the race.

The five top salesmen will be honored along with their wives, with special box seats as guests of the company. The runner-up will present the Pepsi-Cola

Trophy to the winner of the third heat race.

The winner of the Futurity will get a total of 150 championship points toward the Pepsi-Cola Point Fund. He will receive in addition to the $1,000 first-place prize offered by the IMCA, he will also be presented with a trophy and a six-foot Pepsi-Cola bottle.

US Extends Lead In Pan Am Games

CALI, Colombia (AP) — Swimming flashes Frank Heckl and Susie Atwood begin splashing toward a possible 12 gold medals today after USA track and field won the Pan American Games on a golden tide.

Americans bagged 20 of 24 men's track golds and an 11th-hour grandstand rumble appeared to spur a thaw in heretofore frigid U.S.-Cuba relations.

Several Cuban athletes erupted Thursday night when Maoist leaflets saying "Cuba Si, Russia No" were circulated at half-filled Pascual Guerrero Stadium.

A photographer from the Bogotá sports daily, El Espectador, suffered cuts and bruises in the ruckus. A spokesman for the paper said Cuban sprinter Pablo Montes hit the newsman and that two cameras were smashed.

Fans, seeing the red-and-blue uniforms of Cuba amid the scuffle, began hissing athletes from Castro's island as they accepted medals for feats of strength and speed.

In an unprecedented gesture, record-breaking Cuban javelin thrower Tomas Nunez ascended the 1-2-3 platform to accept her gold medal and warmly clutched the hands of runner-up Americans Sherry Calvert of Torrance, Calif., and Roberta Brown of Escondido, Calif. The crowd cheered as the three powerful ladies held hands during the playing of Cuba's national anthem in honor of Miss Nunez' throw of 177-3.

While the USA track and field team packed its 20 men's gold medals and five captured by Uncle Sam's girls, the swimmers began today what is expected to be another harvest of first-place awards for the USA.

"Our coaches keep telling us we're the best," said the 6-foot-5 Heckle, a 20-year-old Southern California senior from Cerritos, Calif. "We've got to go out and prove it."

Heckle will shoot for gold medals in four individual events—the 100 and 200-meter freestyles, 100-meter butterfly and 200-meter individual medley—plus three more in relays.

Miss Atwood, 18-year-old world backstroke record holder from Long Beach, Calif., will go for five golds in two more backstroke events, the 200 and 400 individual medleys and one relay test.

Now that track and field has ended a six-day role as Pan Am headliner, the swimmers will take over for the stretch run in the "Western Hemisphere Olympics."

USA trackmen might have swept every gold medal except for a world record performance by Cuban triple jump artist Pablo Perez and the blazing feet of Jamaica's Don Quarrie.

Quarrie, a Southern Cal student, won three golds in the 100 and 200-meter sprints and as anchor on Jamaica's championship 400-meter team. He matched Tommie Smith's world mark of 19.8 in the 200.

Perez hopped, stepped and jumped an astonishing 57 feet, 1 inch to beat—by a scant quarter inch—the world triple jump mark of Russia's Viktor Saneyev set in the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City.

USA speedsters grabbed the other three relays on the closing program including the 400-yard effort that was anchored by Iris Davis, the 100-meter sprinter from Pompano Beach, Fla.

Both the American girls and boys grabbed 1,600-meter relays.

Rod Milburn equalled the 13.4 Pan Am record in the 110-meter hurdles and steeplechaser Mike Manley of Eugene, Ore., bagged a gold with an 8:42.2 performance in the 3,000-meter hurdles grind.

Perhaps the bleakest moment for the host Colombians came in the 26-mile marathon when their hero—Boston marathon king Alvaro Mejia—finished a dismal fourth to USA double gold medal winner Frank Shorter of Boulder, Colo.

"I would have been 30 seconds faster," Shorter said of his 2:22:44 clocking. "But I've been ill and I had to stop to go to the bathroom."

Shorter also took the 10,000 meters earlier in the track program.

Cute brunette Debbie Van Kieckebelt of Canada snared a bit of the closing night glory for the northland, wrapping up the five-event pentathlon championship.

Smithton, Houstonia Win Opening Tilt

Tri-County Khoury League softball playoff action in the debutante division at Centennial Park Thursday night found Smithton pounding Marshall Junction, 11-4, and Houstonia outlasting Knob Noster, 12-9.

Lessard Wells was the winning pitcher for Smithton in their romp over Marshall Junction; Janie Eichholz took the loss.

Ann Hughes got credit for the victory in Houstonia's victory over Knob Noster; the losing pitcher was Peggy Kehkop.

Games tonight in the playoffs feature S-M Sporting Goods going against Marshall Junction at 7:30 p.m.; the 9 p.m. pits Smithton against Knob Noster.

In American Classic

Hill, Heard Take First-Round Lead

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Putting was the name of the game Thursday for Mike Hill and Jerry Heard, first-round leaders in the $150,000 American Golf Classic.

Each needed only 31 putts on Firestone South's velvet greens for their three-under-par 67 and a one-stroke lead over Gay Brewer and Fred Marti.

Ironically, it was Brewer's tip that corrected Hill's year-long putting flaws over the 7-180-yard course while Heard continued to handle the greens well.

"Gay said I was hitting it too quickly, that I was putting too much with my hands," said Hill, 32. The Jackson, Mich., pro used the tip to drill in six birdie putts, more than offsetting three bogies.

"Even my brother Dave told me I was putting too quickly, but he didn't know why. Gay said I should take a longer stroke. The ball comes off the blade softer," said Hill.

"I stroked the ball closer to the hole today. I didn't have to suffer through any of those three-footers said Hill, whose best 1971 finish was 10th place tie at the Tallahassee Open.

Heard, 24-year-old from Visalia, Calif., played steadier. He had no bogies and birdied three holes with short putts.

He saved par with putts of 20 and 15 feet on the 12th and 13th holes.

It was Heard's opening classic and first look at the fabled Firestone South Course, he said. "You can't attack a course like this one. If you get it going badly, it will eat you up."

Brewer and Marti are two more nonwinners on the 1971 tour although Marti did win the Ontario, Calif., satellite event during the winter.

Firestone, playing long because of recent rains, was tough on some of game's big names.

Arnold Palmer, the Latrobe, Pa., golfing millionaire who had led eight consecutive rounds in the last two weeks, was among six players tied at 70.

Jack Nicklaus, current PGA champion who paired with Palmer last week to win the National Team Championship, ran into putting woes and settled in a log jam of 16 players at 73.

Also at 73 was defending champion Frank Beard, who won last year with a four-under-par 276.

Charles Coody, the 1971 Master's king, was nestled with 10 others at 74.

Palmer, who like Nicklaus can pass idle Lee Trevino for the No. 1 money winning spot with a victory this week, flew home after his round to concentrate on his driving.

The field was to be trimmed to below 70 after the second round today.

All-Stars Fall From Tourney

(Democrat-Capital Service)

JOPLIN — Commerce, Okla., the Oklahoma State Little League Baseball champions, got only one hit in the first inning against the Sedalia American Division Little League All-Stars, but made use of eight straight walks to cash in for six unearned runs on their way to dropping the Sedalia entry out of sectional Little League play; 10-3, here Thursday night.

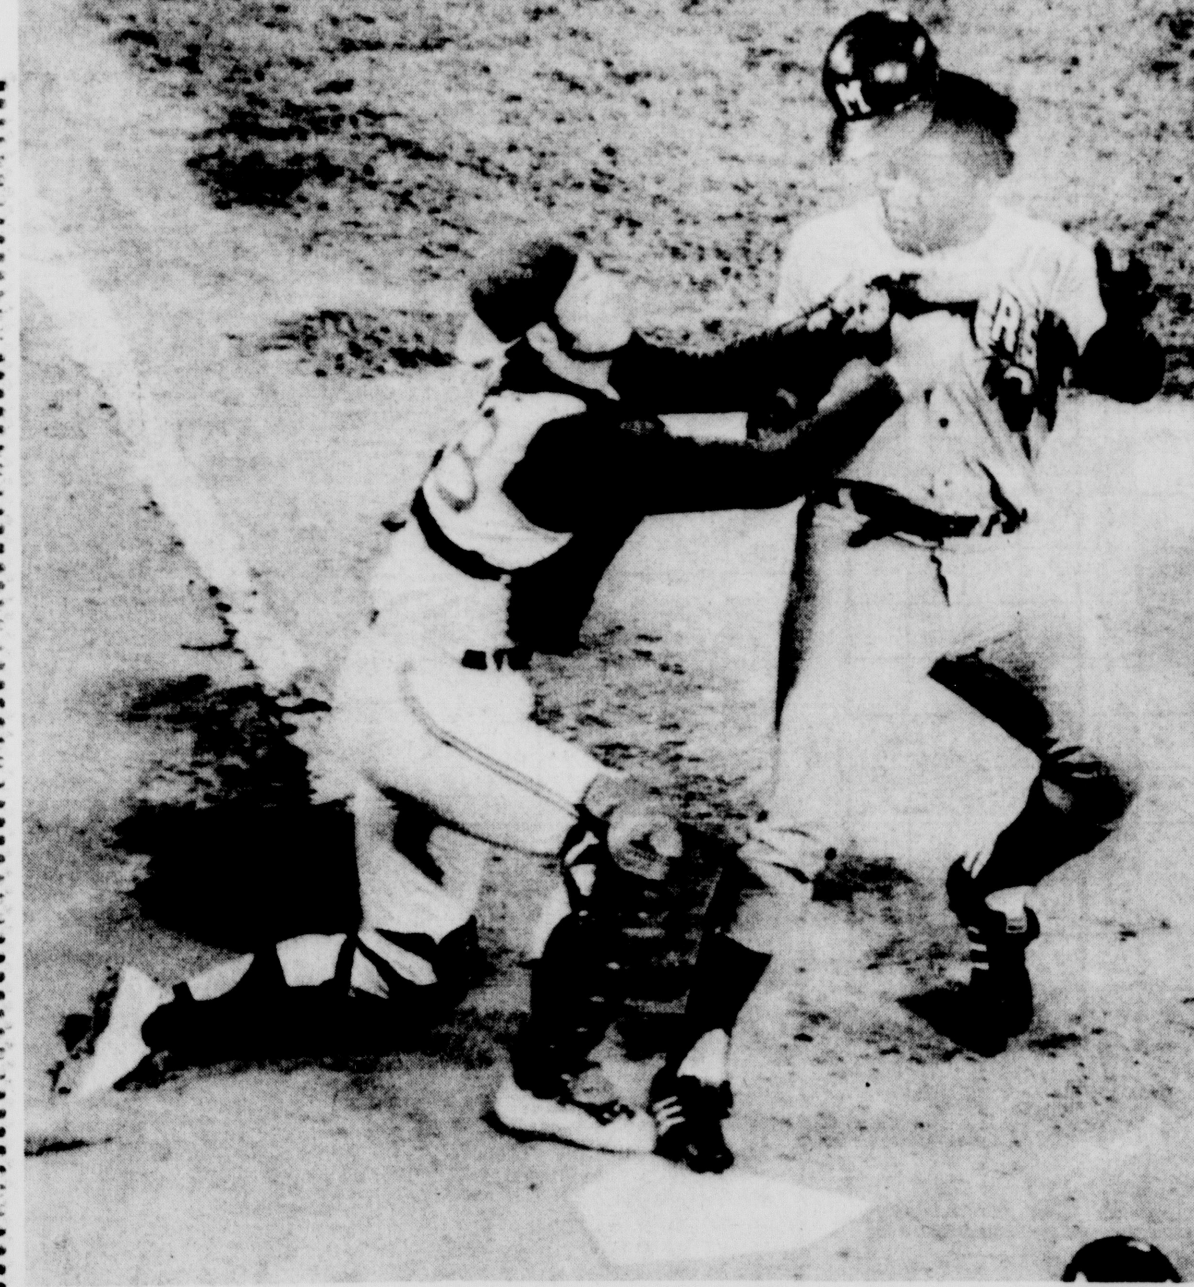

Commerce chased home four more runs in the second inning on as many walks to take a commanding lead.

Sedalia scored two of their three tallies in the second inning on a double by Kim Gooch and singles by Todd Lentz and Dallas Baldwin.

Baldwin came across the plate in the fifth inning for the only other Sedalia run in the game.

Carthage dropped Twin-Cities (Crystal City-Festus) by the score of 4-2, to win the other semifinal berth in the four-team tournament.

Carthage and Commerce, Okla., are paired in tonight's championship contest, which is set for 7 p.m. The winner will advance to the regional playoffs.

Tenace Applies Tag

Oakland Athletics' catcher Gene Tenace tags Milwaukee's Johnny Briggs at the plate as Briggs tried to stretch a fourth-inning triple into a home run. Briggs drilled a ball into left center that rolled to the fence before Angel Mangual could recover it and throw it to shortstop Campy Campaneris. Campaneris relayed the ball to Tenace, who made the tag. Oakland scored two runs in the first inning on a home run by Reggie Jackson and held on for a 2-1 decision. (UPI)

Rod Laver Seeks End Of Slump

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Rod Laver, the King of tennis who had made a hobby of collecting titles, and dollars, during a fabulous career, is determined to break out of a rare slump in the $50,000 U.S. Pro Championships this week at Longwood.

"I'm feeling better, much better," the 33-year-old Rocket from Australia said confidently Thursday night after he did a turnaround and staged an amazing comeback for a 4-6, 6-2, 6-2 victory over stubborn Ismael El Shafei of the United Arab Republic.

Although he is a five-time U.S. pro champ and has earned more than $200,000 already this year, Laver is seeded only fourth on his annual Longwood invasion. The reason: a slump which has left him winless on the circuit since mid-May.

"Every week's another week," Laver said matter of factly. "I'm getting better. As long as I can stay in there, I feel I have a good chance."

Laver gave a near sellout crowd of 4,500 fans a lesson in both perseverance and the finer points of the game as he advanced past El Shafei and moved into the quarter-final match today against seventh-seeded Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill.

El Shafei, like Laver a southpaw, won two of three previous meetings with The Rocket—and appeared en route to another upset as he took the first set with a service break in the 10th game.

However, Laver broke El Shafei at love in the opening game of the second set, asserting his old-time authority.

The transplanted Aussie, now a resident of Dorona-Delmar, Calif., broke his rival in the third game of the deciding set, held off three break points on his own service in the sixth, and finished the match by winning 13 of the last 15 points.

Need Playoffs To Determine Western Champ

A playoff will be needed to establish the division winner in the Western Division of the Central Missouri Ban Johnson League.

Sedalia and Boonville both ended the regular season with records of 11-9 by virtue of Thursday's activity.

Sedalia won over Centralia by forfeit at Liberty Park Stadium, when Centralia could only field eight players.

Boonville won a 4-2 decision over Columbia behind the winning pitching performance of Denny Sercu. The loss was chalked against Columbia's Tim Drennon.

The results set up a playoff between the two squads, which has not yet been set.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

There is an old rhyme that dates back to the days of bridge. It goes: "Eight ever, nine never." This means with a combined holding of eight cards in a suit, you should always finesse for the queen while with nine, you should play for the drop. That was a pretty good rule in bridge, since you would have little information about the division of the other suits. It is also a very good rule in contract, when you have obtained little or no information from the bidding or the early play. The "ever" part is generally correct when you hold eight but the "never" part when you hold nine is not too much of a good thing.

The winning player should pay attention to the bidding in deciding what to do. If today's hand were to be played in the final round of the blue ribbon pairs, the chances are that every South player would play and make four spades by finessing against East's queen. The reason why all these experts would play for the 3-1 spade break is that they would assume that the vulnerable two-heart overall showed a six-card suit. Therefore, East would have three more cards outside the heart suit than West would and the odds would favor a 3-1 trump break.

Ann Landers

Authority Speaks On Girl's Stunts

Dear Ann Landers: That 11-year-old girl who was worried that her eight-year-old sister was ruining her parents' sex life because she kept wanting to sleep with them was mighty interesting. I lived through this same sad story and I know all the sick implications. My own daughter was a little younger when she began to complain of stomach aches, headaches, nightmares — anything to get into our bed. I refused to allow it, but my husband was an easy-mark. He used to get out of bed and sit on the couch with Glenda until the wee hours of the morning.

Later we were divorced. Glenda chose to stay with her father rather than with me because she "liked him better." Today she is a teen-ager, and pulling the same stunts to punish him for remarrying — only on a grander scale. She has run away from home, become sexually promiscuous and attempted suicide.

Glenda and her father are now getting psychiatric help in an attempt to straighten out their relationship. It might be too late, but at least they are working at it. Please advise the parents of that eight-year-old to see that she gets psychiatric help NOW. — Daughter's Rival.

Dear Rival: I have dealt with this problem in the column on numerous occasions — and have always suggested professional counseling. Thanks for the close-to-home testimony.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been married for 15 years. We have four children. I love my husband very much, so please don't tell me to leave him. I'd rather die. We never had a honeymoon. He has never bought me a birthday present or even an anniversary card. We have the same furniture we started with — even curtains, so you can imagine what our place looks like.

I have worked ever since we got married, taking time out only to have the kids. I turn every check over to my husband. He lets the bills go until we get notices from collection agencies. Then he writes checks for more money than we have in the bank, and I have to go to my boss for a loan. I can't ever afford to buy the medicine my doctor says I must have.

Last night I told my husband he was driving me nuts. He sat down with a pencil and paper and showed me that we would be out of hock in three months. I've heard this before. If he hasn't been able to manage it in 15 years, how can he do it in three months? What should I do? — Two-Thirds Crazy In Lafayette.

Dear La: Only two-thirds? Your percentages are off. A woman who turns her paycheck over to a man who is such a lousy manager and not leave herself enough money to buy medicine, needs a lot more help than Ann Landers can give her.

My advice is to get some counseling and find out what's the matter with you that you put up with such treatment.

Dear Ann Landers: I've got a word for the lady in Shaker Heights who became very upset because her friend kept bragging to everyone that her daughter Rosalie was engaged to a doctor. When the news got out that the doctor was "only a dentist" Shaker Heights popped a gusset.

Please tell Mrs. Shaker Heights that Rosalie's mother has nothing to worry about. I received my dentist's bill this morning and a living he'll make. — Superior, Wisc.

Dear Superior: And why shouldn't he? He's entitled. (c) 1971 Publishers-Hall Syndicate

Polly's Pointers

Rubber Stamp Is Timesaver

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I ordered a rubber stamp with my name, address and telephone number on it from a mail order company for about $1. This is great to carry in my purse when I am attending a new store opening, the fair or any place where there are many coupons to fill out when registering for prizes to be given away. This provides all the necessary information in a second and allows more time for looking at the exhibits and prevents the children getting restless as they wait for this writing to be done. — MILDRED

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I have some colored snapshots of my wedding but, unfortunately, they got damp and stuck together. I managed to get them apart but paper from the backs of some has stuck to the fronts of others and I would like to know how to remove this. — MARY R.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is directed to those who freeze or process poultry. I do wish they would freeze the giblets and put them in a plastic bag fastened to the outside of the frozen chicken or turkey so the homemaker could proceed with the boiling of them, instead of having a hassle trying to remove this package from the neck of the frozen bird. If one waits until the fowl is completely defrosted, good juices run out and down the drain. — ALICE

DEAR POLLY — Jayne, who has chocolate burned in her enamel-lined fondue pan, can put enough water in the pot to cover the staps well, add some baking soda and simmer. Next, scrub with a good cleanser. For bad stains, this may have to be repeated more than once. — RUBY

DEAR GIRLS — Luevenia, my good friend and helper, soaks such an enamel pan overnight with cleanser and water in it. If the burned stuff does not wash out the next morning, she boils water with some more cleanser in it and then cleans with a soap-filled pad. Use a rubber spatula as a scraper, rather than a knife, if needed. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Spray your closet rods and shower curtain rods with silicon spray and the curtains and clothing will slide much easier.

A money-saving idea is to sew upholstery patches together in a patchwork design and use to cover the worn parts of a chair. I covered the seat of the couch in my den and also made throw pillows and stack pillows to match. Use colors that will tie in with the room's scheme and repair a worn couch or chair for far less than usual — MRS. D. R.

Financial Snag May Handcuff Commodity Program

By BOB SHEUE
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

JEFFERSON CITY — Sixty-nine Missouri counties, including Pettis, currently receiving a free ride from the federal government for administration and warehousing of local commodity food programs, may have to start footing part of the bill if a projected funding plan by Missouri Director of Welfare Proctor Carter is implemented for fiscal 1972.

The current financial bind in the commodity food program, according to Ray Ferguson, state director of food programs, is mainly due to a reduced appropriation by Congress to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"In fiscal 1971," Ferguson said, "the USDA was granted about $1,600,000 to finance commodity administration and warehousing costs for 69 counties under the program in Missouri."

"Since that appropriation," he explained, "the federal government has requested that every county implement a supplemental food program of some kind. Of Missouri's 114 counties, 104 will now fall under the commodity program funding under state plans with the rest under the food stamp plan."

Ferguson added, however, that the fiscal 1972 appropriation for the state commodity program will be $1,248,220, about $350,000 less than this year and anywhere from $600,000 to $800,000 short of needed funds to provide present services to 104 counties. The $1,248,220 figure has been approved by the House in a $19,700,000 commodity food program package for all 50 states and territories, Ferguson said, with Senate action expected "any day."

Ferguson said State Welfare Department officials are hopeful Senate action might augment the House grant, but have already devised a plan to make any state funding, which might be necessary to keep commodity programs going, equitable among all counties involved.

Ferguson said 39 counties in the state had in the past operated under the "50-50 plan" whereby county governments paid all initial expenses, and were later reimbursed half that cost by the state.

Under State Welfare Department plans, Ferguson said, those counties which had been supporting their programs, with the exception of four which have been approved for the food stamp plan, would be included under federal funding for commodity plan counties, making 104 counties receiving federal help.

To accomplish this with a smaller grant, Ferguson said, it would be necessary for all county governments to contribute to the financial support of local programs. Ferguson emphasized the State Welfare Department believed this was the only equitable solution to off-set money shortages existing in state and federal governments.

He said that some counties with comparatively smaller budgets had been helping support local programs since 1957 while other richer counties in the state had more recently accepted a free ride by the government.

Pettis County Eastern District Court Judge E. L. "Red" Birdsong, told The Democrat-Capital Thursday the court had no knowledge of the state's intentions, but said that the county probably couldn't support the commodity program here, and hinted that a food stamp approach might be studied as an alternative.

However, a backlog already exists of counties awaiting approval by the state and federal government for the food stamp program. In relation to the backlog, Ferguson said the state would still be required to furnish partial funding for administration of that program.

In mid-January of 1970, the county court met with state welfare officials, who at that time presented a commodity foods program which they said would be of no cost to the county.

Welfare officials added that Nixon administration insistence that every county in the nation have some sort of supplemental food plan resulted in the no-cost offer here. The county had not taken any official action toward acquiring a program at the time of that meeting.

However, an apparent lack of USDA funds, coupled with state intentions to

Limitation Placed On ABM Project

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WASHINGTON — The Senate Armed Services Committee approved a proposal Wednesday to reduce the scope of Safeguard ABM work planned for the Sedalia area.

By a vote of 12 to 3, the committee approved a resolution by Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., to limit the Safeguard work at Whiteman AFB and Warren AFB, Wyo., to "advance" preparations only.

The full House of Representatives had earlier voted to give the Nixon administration full Safeguard authorization, providing for construction of a Safeguard complex in the Whiteman area.

The Armed Services Committee action will now go to the full Senate for a vote. A joint Senate-House committee will then likely be formed to resolve differences in the two authorization bills.

Before adopting the Stennis resolution, the Armed Services Committee rejected a proposal by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., to limit Safeguard deployment to the two initial sites at Malmstrom AFB, Great Falls, Mont., and Grand Forks, N.D. That vote was 11 to 5.

An aide to Senator Symington said the committee action would authorize site surveys and land acquisition for the Whiteman ABM complex.

A spokesman for the Army's Safeguard System Command in Huntsville, Ala., told The Democrat-Capital Thursday he considered the action "significant," but added he was not "in a position to say" when the Army might begin actual work on the Whiteman project.

Although the committee approved a $21-billion military buying authorization which gave the Nixon administration almost everything it wanted for major weapons development, it trimmed Safeguard funds slightly and ruled out a start on extending the Washington, D.C., area Safeguard system.

All Safeguard sites are designed to protect land-based Minuteman missile systems.

The committee restored $801.6 million cut out by the House for the Navy's F14 carrier-based fighter interceptor, citing the Pentagon's recommendation the program be carried out and the contractor's statement the funds are sufficient for 48 planes.

The procurement bill, which has precipitated lengthy Senate debates the past two years, will be called up for action in September.

It undoubtedly will attract a number of amendments, aimed at such major weapons programs as the Safeguard and the B1 advanced manned bomber. Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Armed Services Committee predicted it "will have a very rugged trip on the floor."

An aide to Sen. Symington said he will offer two amendments dealing with Laos — one to limit U.S. spending there and another to stop U.S. pay for Thai troops in Laos.

That latter amendment, rejected in committee 11 to 3, is aimed at tightening an antimercenary provision adopted a year ago that prohibits spending U.S. funds for "Vietnamese or other free-world forces in actions designed to provide military support and assistance to the government of Cambodia or Laos." But it permits funds for "local forces in Laos and Thailand."

The administration has interpreted the Thai troops being used in Laos as "local forces" on grounds they are "volunteers" and serving under Laotian command.

Symington and others claim the troops are recruited in Thailand and paid for by the Central Intelligence Agency and that this violates the antimercenary provision.

He sought to redefine "local forces" to include only Thais in Thailand and Laotians in Laos. Only Sens. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, and Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., supported him in committee.

New Emphasis On Peace Plan

PARIS (AP) — Communist delegations at the Vietnam peace talks made it completely clear Thursday that American prisoners of war will be released only if the United States accepts the month-old Communist peace plan.

The plan calls for simultaneous withdrawal of American forces and release of prisoners this year. The United States so far has refused to accept the plan and continues to press for further clarification of the seven-point proposal.

North Vietnam's delegation chief, Xuan Thuy, and his Viet Cong counterpart, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, laid new stress on the July 1 peace plan in the wake of reports that 187 American prisoners would be released by Hanoi later this month.

In two conversations with newsmen at the 124th session of the Vietnam peace conference, Thuy knocked down the reports saying they were the product of someone's imagination.

Asked if there had been diplomatic contacts outside the Paris conference on the prisoner issue, Thuy replied obliquely by saying "the only way that will lead to results is for Mr. Nixon to respond to our peace plan here in Paris on Kleber Street," site of the conference.

Mrs. Binh did not comment to newsmen about the POW report, but her speech to the conference stressed the first point of her peace plan, which calls for the release of prisoners coupled with withdrawal of American forces by the end of this year.

She asked: "Why doesn't the American government respond to this proposal which not only takes into account the just concern of the American people, but responds exactly to a request that it—the American government—itsself has made."

She referred to Nixon's desire to have the prisoners released before total troop withdrawal from South Vietnam.

U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Habib, interim head of the American delegation dwelt on the old allied proposal for an all-Indochina cease-fire in place and was seconded by South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam.

But the Communists came back with references to a cease-fire in the seven-point peace plan. The plan calls for a cease-fire by Communist and U.S. forces after the United States agrees on a troop withdrawal and by the Communist and South Vietnamese forces after a political solution to the conflict has been realized.

Habib also called on the Communists to be more explicit about their peace plan and to respond to questions asked about it three weeks ago.

Mrs. Binh caustically referred to the October presidential elections in South Vietnam, calling them a "political scandal" and saying that the regime of President Nguyen Van Thieu was doing everything to suppress his political opposition.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men born Dec. 4, Jan. 25 and Dec. 15, in 1952 were assigned Nos. 1, 2, and 3 respectively in Thursday's draft lottery to head the line facing possible call to military service next year.

The outlook for nearly 2 million men turning 19 years old this year was decided in two hours of taking capsules from two plexiglass drums and matching birthdates with Nos. 1 through 366.

It was the third national draft lottery. The men who got numbers last year and the year before are not affected by this year's drawing. They keep the numbers received then, as long as they face the draft.

Although the President's authority to draft men expired June 30, the lottery for next year's callup was held because the law governing it remains in effect. Congress is expected to vote a two-year extension of the draft authority after it returns from a month-long recess that begins Friday.

Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr started the latest lottery by noting that draft calls have been "significantly lower" this year than in the past.

He added "In 1972—the year in which most of the men whose numbers have been drawn today will be eligible for induction—we expect that the draft calls will be even lower."

The callup this year is expected to be well below the 195 draft number reached last year. But draft officials would not guess where the final cutoff might be, saying it depends on the military manpower situation.

Worden Walks In Deep Space

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Alfred M. Worden floated in space nearly 200,000 miles from earth Thursday, gliding with a cautious grace to retrieve film canisters from the rear of the homeward-bound Apollo 15 spacecraft.

Worden was the first man to walk in deep space. Mission Control said the exercise went perfectly—"right by the numbers."

"This is really the most unbelievable, remarkable thing," Worden said of the theater of sun, stars, sky and moon around him.

Wearing a heavy protective space suit and helmet, he made three trips between the cabin door and a panel of instruments and cameras.

Both Worden and the spacecraft were traveling through space at the rate of about 2,000 miles per hour. He performed the maneuver smoothly, recovering two film cassettes containing almost two miles of moon mapping photos. His third trip to the outside bay was to inspect the $17-million equipment.

Crewmates David R. Scott and James B. Irwin remained in the cabin of the command ship Endeavour, also wearing suits to protect them against the vacuum of space. But Irwin stuck his head and shoulders out the cabin's hatch door to aim television and photo cameras at the space walker.

Flight director Jerry Griffin said the space walk "went right by the numbers. No problems at all."

The astronauts spent most of the day after the space walk speeding quietly toward earth. They were pleased about one bit of news passed to them by Mission Control. A satellite left in moon orbit was working perfectly.

The space walk began after all three astronauts vented their cabin of oxygen. Then, without ceremony or comment, Worden stepped out the cabin door.

Worden was anchored to the spacecraft by a white safety line as he moved cautiously 15 feet down handrails on the outside, his legs and body floating in the vacuum.

Worden looked back at Irwin and saw that he was silhouetted against the moon, 48,000 miles behind the fleeting spacecraft.

"Jim," said Worden, "You look absolutely fantastic against that moon back there."

The space walker left the cabin at 11:40 a.m. EDT and was back in, the job completed, just 18 minutes later.

His first trip took less than five minutes. "Okay, Houston," he said as he passed inside a 72-pound box-shaped canister, "the pancamera film is safely inside."

"Beautiful job, Al, baby," said Mission Control. "Remember there's no hurry up there at all."

"Rog," said Worden. "I'm enjoying it."

He scurried back and returned to the space cabin with the second canister of film, a 23-pound package containing more than 3,000 feet of mapping film.

Airlines Says Report On Airlift Incorrect

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Scandinavian Airlines denied Thursday that U.S. military officials had asked it to fly 187 Americans held prisoner by North Vietnam to Europe.

A statement by Scandinavian Airlines System—SAS—said the line was approached in West Germany by a private person in mid-July who wanted to arrange a charter flight from Laos to Rome for 187 passengers, but the individual called off the arrangements later.

"It was never mentioned that the category of passengers was military personnel," SAS added.

The Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter first published the report that the flight would carry U.S. prisoners held in North Vietnam, bringing denials from U.S. and North Vietnamese officials.

An SAS official in Rome agreed the contact was made in West Germany but added he did not know the name or nationality of the individual requesting the charter flight.

Earlier, an SAS spokesman in Stockholm said U.S. military authorities in West Germany had asked to charter a DC—to fly the American prisoners from Laos.

SAS said this statement had come "from somebody not sufficiently informed who, being pulled out of bed at the break of day, said yes and no in the wrong places."

Approve Airport Funding

The Federal Aviation Administration approved Thursday $710,590 in federal matching funds for expansion of Sedalia's Municipal Airport, ending a five year campaign by city officials to develop a larger airport.

Congressman William Randall's office notified Sedalia Industrial Development Director Bill Hall Thursday afternoon that official written approval of the plans and funds request, submitted last April by the Sedalia Airport Board, was in the mail.

Plans approved by the Federal Aviation Administration authorize construction of a new 5,000-foot-long north-south runway; the re-routing of Boonville Road; a 200 by 400-foot terminal apron and two taxi-way connections with the existing 3,600-foot runway.

In addition, the plans call for installation of medium intensity runway lights and a VASI visual approach light system, relocation of the wind cone and rotating beacon light, and construction of a new terminal building.

Airport board chairman Dr. Holmes Wilbur said the federal funds are not authorized for building construction, however, and the terminal will have to be financed with bond money.

The federal funds will be added to the $790,000 in bond money, approved by Sedalia voters in 1968. The total airport expansion package will cost $1,421,180 according to earlier estimates, Dr. Wilbur said.

The board has received $19,000 in state support for the expansion project and will get another $6,000. A recently passed state aid to airports bill makes an additional $25,000 available also.

Dr. Wilbur acknowledged that the board has requested its consulting engineers, Wright and Associates of Springfield, Mo., draw up final specifications for the expansion so the board can advertise for bids.

Dr. Wilbur estimated that excavation work could begin this fall and actual construction might start in March, 1972.

When finished the expanded airport would be the largest in Central Missouri, excluding the Columbia Regional Airport, Dr. Wilbur said. The new runway would be equipped with instrument approach procedure aids and could handle any aircraft up to and including executive jets.

The FAA approval climaxed an airport expansion drive that began in 1966, when Mayor Ralph Walker appointed a six-member airport board to plan enlargement of present facilities.

Then followed a long series of delays and defeats for the expansion program, highlighted by a 1970 Civil Aeronautics Board decision to cancel Sedalia's air carrier certificate. Ozark Airlines also announced it was not interested in extending passenger service to Sedalia in 1970.

The position taken by the board in the 1968 bond election was that an expanded airport would feature regular air service. After 1970 the board was forced to push for an airport which would serve private and business communities, rather than the public.

The board also ran into difficulty over land acquisition when it was learned the Missouri Highway Department sought the same lands for the proposed rerouting of Highway 50. Residents along Boonville Road protested the plan to close a portion of that street.

Under the approved plan Boonville Road would be rerouted north to Griessen Road, around the airport lands, then south to the existing roadway.

Eagle Slaughters Shock the Nation

One would think that by now almost all Americans would have been educated as to the extent of the environmental crisis and the threats to our natural areas and wildlife. But evidently the word never filtered down as far as Wyoming.

Americans have been shocked by testimony about the wanton slaughter of eagles, given to a Senate subcommittee by a Wyoming helicopter pilot. The witness, testifying under immunity from prosecution, recounted flying missions over ranches in Wyoming and Colorado in which a total of 770 eagles were killed by airborne hunters. Included were about five rare bald eagles, the country's national emblem.

The vanishing bald eagle is totally protected by federal law. Golden eagles cannot be hunted without the written permission of the state's governor, and only then when it can be proved that they are a threat to livestock. It is against the law to hunt any animal from aircraft.

All of these laws were totally ignored by the ranchers, who paid as much as $25 a head for eagles, which they consider a threat to lambs. The respected American Audubon Society disputes this claim, maintaining that eagles feed mainly on carrion of livestock, if indeed they feed on them at all.

An aide to Wyoming Sen. Gayle McGee, who bared the eagle slaughter story, said ranchers cling to an almost "mythical conviction" that eagles are responsible for large livestock losses.

We have seen such myths perpetuated elsewhere. And of course it soothes the consciences (if consciences they have) of "sportsmen" who are enlisted to kill the eagles if they can rationalize their acts by believing that they are "protecting" something.

Indeed, the Senate witness said he had no trouble recruiting such "sports-loving" friends to join in the airborne eagle slaughter.

Interior Secretary Roger C. B. Morton called the revelations a "national outrage." Federal authorities are working to prosecute those responsible.

Unfortunately the penalties, providing convictions are obtained, will doubtlessly be only a pittance to ranchers who can afford to shell out $15,000 in a determined effort to push the eagle over the edge of extinction.

Jimmy the Greek Calls the Election

By JACK ANDERSON

LAS VEGAS — Jimmy the Greek Snyder, the Las Vegas oddsmaker, is giving odds that Sen. Ed Muskie not only will win the Democratic presidential nomination but will defeat President Nixon in the general election.

Sportsmen and politicians alike swear by Jimmy the Greek, whose odds are accepted as scripture in betting circles across the country.

He has never called a presidential election wrong since the Truman-Dewey upset in 1948. Eight years later, Jimmy not only gave 5 to 1 odds that Nixon would become President but picked Spiro Agnew as the vice presidential favorite two days before he got the surprise nomination.

Last year, Jimmy selected the right favorites in 34 of 35 senatorial and gubernatorial elections. He missed only his home state of Nevada, where he failed to predict Gov. Mike O'Callaghan's upset victory. "I was too close to it," says the Greek ruefully.

We have now signed up Jimmy, because of his uncanny accuracy, to give us the political odds exclusively until the November, 1972, election. Other news outlets have enlisted such eminent pollsters as George Gallup, Louis Harris and Oliver Quayle to assist them in the Great American Guessing Game. But we put our money on Jimmy the Greek.

Nixon and Muskie are strong favorites in Jimmy's book to win the presidential nominations. As he sees it, there's only one chance in five that Nixon won't run, one chance in two that Muskie won't be the Democratic nominee.

If the economy is still faltering and the Chinese negotiations are fouled up, Jimmy acknowledges that Nixon might retire rather than risk defeat. Muskie might also stumble before next August and lose the Democratic nomination. The next most likely nominees, by Jimmy's odds, are Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

In the 1972 general election, Jimmy lists Muskie a 7 to 5 favorite over Nixon, rates Humphrey and Nixon even. If Reagan should be the Republican nominee, Jimmy gives both Muskie (3 to 1) and Humphrey (2½ to 1) the edge.

The possible entry of Eugene McCarthy as a fourth party candidate would alter the odds. In this event, Jimmy would rate Muskie and Nixon even and the President a 7 to 5 favorite over Humphrey. But even with McCarthy in the race, Jimmy still would pick Muskie (5 to 2) and Humphrey (2 to 1) to defeat Reagan.

The odds against George Wallace being elected to the White House, Jimmy calculates, would be 500 to 1.

Muskie's most likely running mate, as Jimmy rates the prospects, would be Sen. Henry "Scoop" Jackson. But if Humphrey should get the presidential nomination, Jimmy considers Sen. Ted Kennedy a strong vice presidential favorite. Vice President Agnew is given an even chance to remain on the Nixon ticket in 1972.

Jimmy the Greek, born Demetrios Synodinos and reared in the pre-war gambling town of Steubenville, Ohio, calculated the odds with painstaking precision. He consults professional politicians and political writers in all 50 states. His staff collects and clips political report from newspapers across the country. A certain amount of black magic also goes into Jimmy's forecasting.

Here are the odds:

Who will win the Democratic presidential nomination: — Sen. Ed Muskie, 1-2; Sen. Hubert Humphrey, 9-5; Sen. Henry Jackson, 25-1; Sen. Ted Kennedy, 50-1; Sen. George McGovern, 200-1; Sen. Birch Bayh, 200-1; Rep. Wilbur Mills, 200-1; Sen. Fred Harris, 200-1; Eugene McCarthy, 200-1; Mayor Sam Yorty, 500-1; Ralph Nader, 500-1. The chances that a dark horse, not mentioned here, might win the nomination are 50 to 1.

Who would be Muskie's running mate? — Sen. Henry Jackson, 1-1; Sen. Harold Hughes, 4-1; Sen. Birch Bayh, 5-1; Sen. George McGovern, 20-1; Sen. Fred Harris, 20-1; Sen. Ted Kennedy, 20-1; dark horse, 10-1.

Who would be Humphrey's running mate? — Sen. Ted Kennedy, 2-1; Sen.

Henry Jackson, 8-1; Sen. Harold Hughes, 12-1; Sen. Birch Bayh, 15-1; Sen. George McGovern, 40-1; Sen. Fred Harris, 40-1; dark horse, 50-1.

Who will win the Republican presidential nomination? — President Richard Nixon, 5-1; Gov. Ronald Reagan, 9-2; Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, 20-1; Mayor John Lindsay, 20-1; Sen. Mark Hatfield, 100-1; Sen. Charles Percy, 100-1; Rep. Pete McCloskey, 500-1; dark horse, 50-1.

Who will be Nixon's running mate? — Spiro Agnew, 1-1; Treasury Sec. John Connally, 3-1; dark horse, 3-1.

From time to time, as the odds change, we will publish Jimmy the Greek's latest calculations exclusively in this column.

Farewell To Woods Of Youth

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA News Analyst

LAKESIDE, Mich. (NEA) — Here in a corner of southwestern Michigan, a benign country of woods and fruitlands, I have to say farewell to a patch of earth I have known intimately for a quarter of a century.

Blossat

But it is important to me—and maybe when I finish telling about it others will think it important, too.

There is much here: a beach of yellow sand on Lake Michigan, country houses, a long white fence, six giant fir trees, nearly a dozen great maples, sprawling lawns, a thick carpet of ivy covering a steep bank, a profusion of bright birds.

Yet the deep woods that make the backdrop for all this is the treasured place for me. Why?

They are not unique. Michigan abounds in broad stands of beautifully textured woods. Anyone who has traveled this nation widely has seen magnificent clusters of trees in many, many areas.

What makes these woods different is that I know them. I have lived countless hours of my life in them. With my brother, I opened them up. We slashed long, winding, interconnecting paths to the farthest reaches. We erected four rustic bridges across a ravine, planted posts and railings and laid down nearly 200 log steps.

For most of the past 25 years, we returned again and again to clear away the debris of storm and wind, and repair the damage done by winter's hard blows.

The twisting, sloping paths became my special charge. Sometimes as early as dawn, sometimes in the fading sun of the evening I slashed at their surfaces with a two-bladed, long-handled whip. Their graceful sweep, together with the rustic bridges, seemed only to enhance the natural glory of the woods. They were never an intrusion.

Over the years, there was seldom much time for simple, leisurely walks. Others, family and friends, had that pleasure. My brother and I were busy with upkeep. We the woods, then, just a "project" to us?

No, they were not. For me, surely, they were a link to the earth. The bond between man and land can be strong. It gives him a sense of belonging, of attachment to a natural home. The feel of grass or moss or soil beneath one's feet is warming and comforting.

You get so you know every turn of the way. You know trees as you know friends. A cushion of gray-green, spongy moss, a tilted stretch of path curving between huge red oaks, a close canopy of arching young trees, a hundred sights like these excite the eye. Curiously, in this open arena which wind and rain can buffet, the cherished little places somehow survive. So the woods have about them the familiarity of a room long lived in and crammed with prized possessions.

Not that these woods have been a secure island apart from the world around. They are not a place to hide. In a generation's time, they have in their way been a mirror of changing American life.

The bridges and railings and steps are gone, destroyed again and again (and for a time, quickly replaced). They fell before the mindless rampages of vandals. The paths bear the scars of moss-stealers, truly an insensitive breed. Trees have been hacked at and sawed off. The frustrations of empty living must be galling.

But that leafy domain holds its own. The woods are too strong for the petty ingenuity of the destroyers and poachers.

To stand amid the oaks, the tulip trees, the lindens, the ironwoods, the dogwoods and all the others, to watch the endless, shifting interplay of sun and shadow, is to feel oneness with the earth.

One can roam far from such a place and still sense the tug of the anchor. The woods are roots sunk deep. I have been lucky to have them. There is too much rootless drifting in this age. But, though I say farewell now, I can move anywhere and feel beneath my feet these treasured paths which bind me to the land.

WASHINGTON — Many large corporations, aware that the consumer has a great fear of being treated as just another number on a computer, have tried to personalize their operations.

A friend of mine recently received a letter from his credit card company which said, "After receiving complaints that our customers have no one to write to personally, we are happy to inform you that Mr. Fred Barkle has been assigned to your account and if you have any problems or questions please write or call him at the following telephone number."

"We hope by appointing Mr. Barkle as your liaison with our company we are proving to you that we really care. There is no substitute for talking to a REAL LIVE HUMAN BEING when you have a problem, and our Mr. Barkle is ready to serve you at your convenience. Sincerely."

A few weeks later my friend, let's call him Parsons, had a problem. He was being billed for a plane flight he did not take.

He immediately picked up the phone and called Mr. Barkle. "Hi, Mr. Barkle—this is Dave Parsons here. It seems you fellows made a little mistake with my bill and charged me for a plane ride I didn't take. Could you straighten it out?"

"Of course, Dave," Mr. Barkle said. "Just give me the information and I'll take care of it."

"Well, that's really nice of you, Fred, and I want you to know how much I appreciate the fact that I have someone to talk to at your company."

"That's why I'm here, Dave. And you call me any time now—you hear?"

A couple of weeks went by and Parsons received another bill from the credit card company written in stronger language.

He immediately called his friend Barkle.

"Say, Fred, this is Dave Parsons. In spite of the fact that you said you would take care of the matter, I just received another bill about my plane ticket."

"I have no idea what you're talking about, Mr. Parsons."

"Oh, I'm sorry, I'd better fill you in," and then Parsons proceeded to tell Barkle the whole story again.

"Well, I'll be happy to look into the matter, Mr. Parsons."

"What happened when you looked into the matter before?" Parsons wanted to know.

"I never looked into the matter."

"I spoke to you two weeks ago about it."

"You never spoke to me. What day did you call?"

"Wednesday."

Shaving Record Claimed

KIRKWOOD, Mo. (AP) — Barber Guy Mudd threw in the towel Thursday in his trans-Atlantic shaving marathon but claimed the world's endurance record for shaving with a straight razor.

The Kirkwood barber claimed he quits after 38 hours of shaving 166 volunteers.

Mudd claimed the championship after his opponent, Gerry Harley of Gillingham, England, said in a telegram that he was using a safety razor in the speed contest.

Mudd said that action disqualified his opponent because it had been stipulated earlier that the match was one of endurance, not speed, and that straight razors, not safety razors, would be used.

After declaring himself champion, Mudd flopped on the nearest couch and lighted his victory cigar.

"Harley can go as long as he wants with the safety razor," said Hank Maddock, Mudd's contest manager. "We have the champion right here. There's no other man in the world who has ever gone 38 straight hours with a straight razor."

"The contest was not the amount of shaves but the amount of hours on your feet," Maddock said. "Mudd started at 10 p.m. Tuesday and he finished at 12 noon today."

The 34-year-old Kirkwood barber previously claimed records as the world's endurance haircutting champion — 313 heads of hair in 72 hours of nonstop cutting — and the world's record for speed shaving — 103 shaves in one hour.

Maddock said Mudd also holds the speed record for a single shave with a safety razor — 11 seconds.

Spring water has been sold in flasks or bottles since ancient times.

Report Varied Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale costs of industrial goods posted the steepest seasonal rise in 15 years last month but farm prices dipped sharply and the White House saw both good and bad news in Thursday's report.

"We're not in some euphoric state about the economy where we don't recognize the problem," said White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Farm prices fell 2.2 per cent, indicating hopes for lower grocery prices, but the seasonally adjusted rise of seven-tenths of one per cent in prices of raw material for most manufactured goods was the largest monthly jump since 1957.

And, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said, industrial prices over the last six months climbed at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 4.9 per cent, highest since 1957.

Ziegler said the "good view" is that averaged together, all wholesale prices rose only three-tenths of one per cent in July and only two-tenths on a seasonal basis for the smallest increase in five months.

The July increase pushed the government's Wholesale Price Index up to 114.6, meaning it cost $114.60 on the average for every $100 worth of wholesale goods in the 1967 base period.

The index was 3.3 per cent above a year earlier, smallest annual spread in four months.

But in Congress, where a number of Republicans have joined Democratic demands for tougher White House action against inflation, Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., of the Senate-House Economic Committee called the report "another gloomy economic indicator."

Nixon said Wednesday he would listen to congressional arguments for a wage-price review board if its advocates could show it wouldn't do the economy more harm than good. But the President indicated he still opposes the idea.

"If you take an objective look there is very definite expansion in the economy," Ziegler said. "Progress is being made that is wide and deep. We are working toward the objective of a healthy economy with high prosperity, high employment."

"We can be pleased with the progress made but we can't be satisfied," he added.

The nation's unemployment total has been running at the highest rate in a decade and living costs so far this year are tied up at the third highest rate in 20 years.

July's big rise in industrial prices was largely due to a 6 per cent hike in lumber prices and a 1.3 per cent rise for iron and steel. The July report didn't reflect the 8 per cent hike in steel prices announced earlier this week after the industry granted three-year pay boosts of 30 per cent for some 500,000 steelworkers.

Most economists look most closely at industrial price movements which tend to become more permanently built into the economy. Wholesale food prices fluctuate up and down more because of weather, crop and market conditions.

Soybeans, Corn Fall Four Cents

CHICAGO (AP) — A generally improving outlook on this year's corn and soybeans crops influenced heavy selling of these futures on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday.

Corn futures closed up to 4 1/2 cents a bushel lower, while soybeans fell back 4 1/2 cents. Wheat futures reflected the weakness in corn, easing 2 1/2 cents, while oats declined 1 1/2 cents.

As corn, wheat and oats prices descended, new lows for the season were set in virtually all options.

In all pits, as prices fell back, much stop loss selling was evident and margin calls also were numerous, some trade sources reported.

At the close, corn was 3 3/4 to 4 1/2 cents a bushel lower, September 1.23 3/4; soybeans were 3 1/2 to 4 1/4 cents lower, August 3.25 1/2; wheat was 2 to 2 1/2 cents lower, September 1.43 3/4; and oats were 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents lower, September 63 1/2 cents.

Masonic Campers Will Meet Here

About 1,000 members of the Masonic Camping Club are expected here next week, according to Cecil Rooks, Orlando, Fla., a member of the group.

He said members would set up camp from Monday through Thursday at the camp grounds on the Missouri State Fairgrounds.

Firemen answered a call to Cooper and Grand at 12:37 p.m. Wednesday to extinguish a blaze in a 1964 Chevrolet owned by Helen Brown. Two pump buckets were used to put out the fire, which caused $150 worth of damage and is believed to have been caused by a short in the car's wiring.

EXPORTS ELEPHANTS — BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesia has found a new export business in baby elephants. Overseas buyers have been found for 30 young pachyderms. Because of United Nations economic sanctions against this unrecognized public, officials declined to say where the elephants are bound.

Magistrate Court

Lawrence P. Sudduth 46, Forence, was arraigned Thursday on a charge of statutory rape and his preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 2.

The charge stems from an incident Tuesday afternoon involving a 12-year-old Sedalia girl.

Sudduth, was released Thursday on a $5,000 personal surety bond.

American Casualties Reported

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command reported Thursday that there were 14 American battlefield deaths last week, and a breakdown showed six were killed in combat.

The command said in addition to six killed in combat, six previously listed as missing were confirmed dead and two wounded in other weeks died last week.

The maintenance of low casualty levels reflects both the lack of action in South Vietnam and the diminishing U.S. combat role in South Vietnam.

For example, the day's communiqués reported nothing but patrol skirmishes and isolated shellings throughout South Vietnam.

Even the air war was at a low key. While B52 bombers again pounded the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos, no Stratofortresses raided targets in South Vietnam for only the third time since last May.

U.S. military spokesmen insisted there was no significance to the interruption of raids in South Vietnam and that it could have been for a number of reasons.

The only previous times since May 20 that no B52s struck in South Vietnam were two days in July. Raids on both days were called off because of typhoons.

North Vietnam broadcasts, however, called Thursday for the Vietnamese people to keep up the fight against the Americans. A Viet Cong broadcast urged the people to sabotage the presidential elections Oct. 3, calling President Nguyen Van Thieu "the archtraitor."

The U.S. Command's disclosure that 14 Americans died as a result of combat action last week maintained for a third straight week the lowest level of battle fatalities in six years. U.S. combat deaths in the two previous weeks were 11 and 13.

The summary also showed 71 Americans were wounded in action last week, compared to wounded figures for the previous two weeks of 81 and 88.

The U.S. summary showed 15 Americans died last week from nonhostile causes such as accidents and illness. This was four more than the previous week.

The South Vietnamese command reported 328 government troops were killed and 721 wounded last week, compared with 295 killed and 574 wounded a week earlier.

The combined allied commands claimed 1,634 enemy killed, an increase of 98 over the previous week.

Schedule Pollution Hearing

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Serious water pollution problems in northeastern Jefferson County will be discussed at a public hearing in Hillsboro next Wednesday night called by the Missouri Water Pollution Board.

The hearing will start at 7:30 p.m. in the gymnasium at Jefferson Junior College.

The hearing will center on pollution problems and their solution in the watersheds of Saline, Romaine, Sugar, Muddy and Pomme creeks and several tributaries of the Meramec River, all in a rapidly growing area.

Jack K. Smith, executive secretary of the state board, said it is ready to tackle the Jefferson County pollution problems watershed by watershed if necessary.

"The unbridled growth which has taken place in Jefferson County and other developing areas cannot continue," Smith said.

"The lack of sewer systems, lack of adequate, properly operated sewage treatment facilities, and the proliferation of sewage treatment facilities with little or no planning creates a serious health hazard in Jefferson County."

"Something must be done. One thing that can be done is to implement the countywide sewer plan which was prepared by consulting engineers for Jefferson County."

"We know from the complaints we receive in our St. Louis office that not all residents of Jefferson County are content to live with things the way they are. The problem is to convince more people and to get the county to move toward solving the water pollution problems."

Injuries From Auto Accidents Up This Year

Sedalia's accident picture so far this year is only slightly worse than last year, but the number of injuries rose sharply, according to C. R. Harrell, records clerk for the police department.

So far this year 552 accidents have been investigated. They resulted in one death and 146 injuries. Last year, Harrell said, the department had investigated 551 accidents through July and they resulted in 3 deaths and 109 injuries.

For the month itself, July 1971 looked grim compared to the same period last year. Police investigated 86 accidents last month, involving 29 injuries and one death. Those figures compared to 73 accidents, 10 injuries and no deaths in the same month last year.

MOTORCYCLE BAN

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — The city council has passed a law which forbids all motorcycle riding except on public roadways and officially designated motorcycle trails.

Too many people complained about the noise motorcycles were making in city parks and along abandoned railroad property.

NSCA Plans Meeting

The North Side Citizens Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Friday at Quinn Chapel Church. Activities will include planning a Labor Day picnic.

People in the News

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has indicated his wife Pat will not be accompanying him when he makes his planned trip to Communist China.

The President said Wednesday he will be accompanied only by a "small working party," which as of now includes only Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security adviser.

Any additions to the party, Nixon said, would have to be agreed upon mutually by Washington and Peking.

In talking with newsmen, Mrs. Nixon quipped: "While he goes there, I'll go to Ireland."

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Paul VI has lashed out at those who he says are attempting to repudiate the existing Catholic Church and found a new church.

The Pope told his weekly general audience at the summer papal palace Wednesday that those seeking to change the Church should not overstep the bounds of reform set by the Second Vatican Ecumenical Council.

"Novelty for novelty's sake is not justified," the Pope said.

"Observing these attempts—fanciful, we hope—to found a new church... repudiating the existing one, we see easily that they are neither new nor liberating; they are concessions to the profane mentality of the time."

O'Connors Takes Two From Stars

WHITEMAN AFB — Mike O'Connors, the Mid-Missouri Softball League champions for 1971, took both ends of a doubleheader against the Mid-Mo All-Stars Wednesday night here.

John Fiene was credited with a 13-2 decision O'Connors fashioned in the opener. Seven of the starting nine players for the league champs lashed out two hits apiece. The only home run in the game was hit by Paul Mast (Whiteman) for the All-Stars. Marshall Dairy Queen pitcher Henry Hunter was the losing pitcher.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A spokesman at Sunrise Hospital says singer Perry Como is in excellent condition after treatment for relief of a kidney stone ailment.

Como was admitted to the hospital Monday and was described as being in considerable pain.

After the nonsurgical treatment Wednesday, the hospital said he would be able to leave soon.

Como was appearing at a Las Vegas Strip hotel when he was stricken. The balance of his engagement was canceled and comedian Bill Cosby was called in as a replacement for the singer, now in his 50s.

Director Is Now Actor

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Trying to hold an intelligent, orderly conversation with George Axelrod is like trying to train a black panther to fetch the morning paper.

Axelrod, a brilliant writer, producer and director, has moved to London — "I left Hollywood when the movie business crashed down around my head and besides, I have a ravishingly beautiful daughter and London is better for her" — but was back for a flying visit.

There was a call from David Merrick in New York, and Axelrod took it. He said he had to.

When he came back, he explained. Merrick is producing, and Axelrod is writing, a musical version of the old Marilyn Monroe movie hit, "Some Like It Hot," for Broadway. It will be called — tentatively — "Do You Like Girls?"

"Jule Styne and Bob Merrill are doing the music," Axelrod said. "Styne is a nice guy but speaks only Martian. Merrick is a manic-depressive. And Merrick is — well, Merrick is Merrick. But I'd rather work with pros who are difficult than with nice amateurs."

Axelrod says that he had a setback soon after he got to London.

"There was a deal to do a film with Carol White," he said. "She's that short girl with the big things and the minimum of talent. But the deal fell through. I'd started a movie outline at the time, and just kept working on it and the first thing I knew, I had written a book."

The book is a slim but funny and cheerfully shocking story called "Where Am I Now — When I Need Me?" He says it's his warm-up for other books. He considers it a tryout and, for a tryout, it's pretty good.

"It isn't that I've abandoned movies," he says, "but they've abandoned me. Movies is a young man's field. I don't speak motorcycle."

He says he'd love it if his book-writing career turns out to be successful enough so he never has to mess around with movies again — "so I never have to work with those crazy actors."

Axelrod says he learned to live with producers and studio bosses, but actors were impossible.

Axelrod, at 49, thinks he has life made. He likes London, lives well and his children are mostly grown up. He doesn't have any major worries.

"I've always lived well," he says. "I had one stroke of luck. My grandfather was a terrible man. Everybody in the family was scared of him but me, and I told him off. The result was that I was taken out of his will."

"But my children are all taken care of with trust funds from his will. So I've never had that worry."
